Editorial

As Predicted A Pandora's Box Has Been Opened

Once again, our beloved country finds itself under very dark clouds of shame and embarrassment. Information from sources in middle eastern countries, amongst others, attest to the ongoing corruptions of persons holding office in our public sector.

These 'developments' should not be surprising to any of us, because we have been warned, time and again, that persons in the entity which used to masquerade as 'team unity' were indulging in all kinds of self-enriching malpractices.

Indeed, in our editorial of Friday 29 March 2019, (captioned "The Worsening Stench Of Corruption") we again tried to alert the people of St Kitts and Nevis to the what was going on with regard to the Citizen By Investment (CBI) programme, and the damaging impact it was all going to have on us.

On that occasion we sought to draw lessons from the case of an open international meeting pertaining to financial services and other related matters which had taken place at a Mid-East venue, and during the course of which one speaker had invited a panelist to address a particular concern by asking him if he would talk about 'the tom-foolery' going on in the Caribbean, especially in relation to real estate matters, switching of applications, and such like, stating that it was so important that they really needed to talk about it.

The panelist had responded by stating that the year (2018) which they had just passed through, and the one which was then 'ahead' (2019), were going to prove 'troublesome'. He had continued thus: "A lot of truth is going to come out, and it is not going to be nice. It's probably going to implicate heads of government and heads of programmes, and it is going to implicate millions of dollars which are going to be lost."

As we noted, in a voice obviously full of anguish he, the same panelist, made the telling observation that "The people who are going to pay the price are the poor people of these islands."

How truly prophetic were those words!

Having spoken in general terms, the panelist then went on to speak more specifically. "For more than a year now we have been informing the governments, mostly ST KITTs." He explained that they have been approached, time and again, by persons 'shopping' for service providers of a particular type, and upon examination, it had turned out that those providers were involved in seriously fraudulent activities, especially of the type which robbed our countries of hundreds of millions of dollars.

The panelist had gone on to point out that they had been informing the government of St Kitts about those practices, and their concerns, for a very long time, but NO action had been taken to deal with those matters. To the contrary, what they found when they dug deeper into the matter, especially where the (so-called) 'Hurricane Relief Fund' was concerned, he emphasised, was that, up to that point in time, more than three hundred (300) applicants had been 'directed' to switch their applications to another programme, an action which deprived the country of considerable amounts of money.

We ask: "What other legitimate programme was that?"

As we observed then, another member of the panel had stated that, whenever they tried to raise the concerns with persons on St Kitts they were met with a response along the lines of 'what are you worrying about? The 'government' is getting its share.' We further observed that the panelist who made that input, in response to the statement that the government was getting its share, had clinched the point by stating: "Perhaps, but the people are getting the short end of the stick!"

The government was getting it's share!?! That means that some other person or persons were also getting their share. Who were they? What were the proportions? How much was being lost to the people of St Kitts and Nevis?

He also revealed that the previous November (2018) they, along with service providers on the island, had informed government of the fraud, but, until that time, there had been NO response from the government re what were quite obviously 'white collar' crimes.

He had gone on to state, quite categorically, that the governmental authorities in ST KITTs were 'playing the deaf ear'.

The first panelist had then pointed out that the case in ST KITTs was opening a Pandora Box, and he reiterated that things were going to get worse, as more and more persons are showing an inclination to go along the route of the 'white collar crimes'. How prophetic! How accurate!

He had assessed the then prevailing and growing practices as constituting a 'great threat', and had further stated that both the government and agents were unscrupulous. He had also expressed his amazement that such corrupt practices could still be going on in this day and age, and so openly!

It was also his assessment that such practices could only exist, and persist, if permitted from the government side.

Very interestingly, another panelist had stressed that it was a fair assumption that involvement by government figures was at the higher levels.

Recent disclosures concerning the behaviors of certain high-ranking politicians and 'functionaries' attest to the fact that the 'Pandora's Box' has indeed been opened, a most telling case in point being the disclosure of information pertaining to attempts to raise over three billion dollars (EC) with which to construct a (supposedly) thirty-million-dollar (EC) prison.

Question: Who is pocketing the extra two billion seven hundred thousand dollars?

That is most certainly a huge scandal, indeed the biggest ever!

Once again it is our duty to warn the electorate of this country that it is incumbent upon us to rid ourselves of this scourge. Failure to do so will have detrimental effects for generations to come.

We must rid our country of the governing regime. We simply cannot afford to fail.

SKNLP Claims Pay To Register To Vote

“Corrupt Behaviour” Among Other Issues

BASSETTERRE, St.Kitts (May 2022)- “The bold and open display of corrupt behavior where persons are brought in to register by the scores and are lining up to be paid following their registration, all in plain sight of observers and within the vicinity of the Electoral Office.”

This above is one of seven areas of concerns raised by the opposition St.Kitts-Nevis Labour Party relating to what has been summed up as in a press statement on ‘Electoral Office Matters’ issued 16th May 2022, claiming that there is evidence in such matters.

Notably, on Friday 13th May, this media house observed shortly after 6:00PM individuals gathered outside and within the area of Electoral Office on Central Street in Basseterre as the office appeared to be opened beyond its usual working hours. Some of the SKNLP candidates such as Dr. Geoffrey Hanley, Konris Maynard and Dr. Denzil Douglas were seen moving about in monitoring mode.

SKNLP Leader Dr. Terrance Drew has been making visits to the office area.

“The St. Kitts-Nevis Labour Party is disturbed and alarmed at the irregularities taking place in and around the vicinity of the Electoral Office. It appears that the Supervisor of Elections, Mr. Elvin Bailey, continues to abuse his position and is bent on assisting certain members of government in using the Electoral Office to determine the outcome of the upcoming election,” the recent statement read.

As reported: “Recently, the St. Kitts-Nevis Labour Party met with the Supervisor of Elections to raise our concerns, but to date, there has been no attempt in evidence to address the many concerns we have raised.

Instead, the number of infractions at the Electoral Office continues to increase that are in many ways reminiscent of the irregularities and illegalities that took place leading up to and during the general elections of June 5, 2020.

The SKNLP is claiming that “From our own observations and evidence in our possession the following activities taking place at the Electoral Office have given rise to the perception that there is wanton corruption taking place in the electoral system...”

Listed are:

- The discriminatory way in which the Electoral Office refuses to print National ID cards for select persons registered to vote;
- The intimidation and discourteous treatment of citizens standing in line to register by unauthorized figures dispatched by members of the Prime Minister of St. Kitts and Nevis’ party, the Peoples Labour Party (PLP);
- Evidence of illegal transfers of names on the voter’s list to areas where voters are not resident;
- The bold and open display of corrupt behavior where persons are brought in to register by the scores and are lining up to be paid following their registration, all in plain sight of observers and within the vicinity of the Electoral Office;
- The operation of the Electoral Office well after working hours when certain well-known gangsters are seen registering unknown persons and collecting batches of ID cards from the office.
- The non-publication of the monthly lists depicting the names of the new voters who have been registered during the period and the names of those who have been transferred;
- The non-publication of the Report of the objections process that took place in March 2022.

According to the SKNLP: “These practices and illegalities must cease. The subversion must cease. The wanton corruption of our electoral system must cease. Democracy is a fragile treasure that every citizen must value and demand that it be respected and preserved.”

The party is calling on Supervisor of Elections Elvin Bailey, Attorney General Vincent Byron and the Electoral Commission “to ensure that the business of the Electoral Office is conducted in accordance with the principles of impartiality and fairness and in full compliance with the laws and procedures of St. Kitts and Nevis.”

Waste recycling promotions continue both on St. Kitts and on Nevis

BASSETTERRE, ST. KITTS, May 19, 2022 (MMS-SKN) — The St. Kitts and Nevis Solid Waste Management and Recycling Project, which is a partnership between the Federal Government of St. Kitts and Nevis and the Government of the Republic of China (Taiwan) has stepped up its waste recycling promotions following its launch earlier this year.

According to Project Manager, Ms Joyce Chang, the three-year (July 29, 2021 to July 28, 2024) US$1 million Solid Waste Management and Recycling Project had already executed a number of activities before it was officially launched on Friday March 4. The first was a beach clean-up on Saturday October 9 last year in honour of Taiwan's National Day that is normally observed on October 10 (Double Ten Day), which was on a Sunday.

She pointed out that St. Kitts and Nevis produces 32,363 metric tons of waste per year (1.67 kg/person/day), which is much higher than the global average of 0.99kg in Latin America and the Caribbean, and added that it causes the landfill to be overloaded. Other recycling activities, held before the project's official launch, were executed both on St. Kitts and on Nevis.

Earth Day which is observed on April 22 fell on a Friday this year, but the St. Kitts and Nevis Solid Waste Management and Recycling Project team made up of officers from the Taiwan Technical Mission led by Ms Chang, and accompanied by Ms Crystal Lin-Chun Ou, Third Secretary at the Republic of China (Taiwan) Embassy in St. Kitts, joined volunteers from the St. Kitts and Nevis Clean Seas for a beach clean-up at Conaree on Sunday April 24.

At the end of the beach clean-up a total of 311 pounds of garbage in 19 bags were collected. There were 36 volunteers, and according to Executive Coordinator of the Project Manager Ms Joyce Chang, of St. Kitts and Nevis Solid Waste Management and Recycling Project, addressing volunteers from the St. Kitts and Nevis Clean Seas during the beach clean-up at Conaree held on Sunday April 24.

The Government of St. Kitts and Nevis Invites Tenderers to Bid on the following Project:

CHARLES E. MILLS SECONDARY SCHOOL ELECTRICAL UPGRADE

Tender Documents can be obtained at the Public Works Department, Wellington Road, Basseterre, St Kitts, as of Wednesday 20th April 2022 for a non-refundable fee of EC$500.00 each.

Completed Tender shall be delivered in sealed envelope to the office of:

Director of Public Works Department
Wellington Road, Basseterre, St Kitts on or before 1:00pm Wednesday 25th May 2022.

Tenderers or their representatives are invited to the Tender Opening.

Eligibility

It is mandatory that Tenderers be locally registered in the Federation of St. Kitts & Nevis. Business License MUST be presented before receipt of Tender Document.

Ripple Institute SKN, Ms P'Della'P Stanley, who thanked all stakeholders including the Taiwan ICDF, the activity aimed at mobilising the youths in St. Kitts and Nevis by equipping them with the proper tools and training to become active guardians of the coastal areas in their communities through environmental monitoring, tree planting and clean-up activities.

Another big activity for the St. Kitts and Nevis Solid Waste Management and Recycling Project was at the St. Kitts Agriculture Open Day which was held on two days, Thursday and Friday 28-29 April, where the Taiwan Technical Mission had a large booth which attracted scores of show-goers and as was crowd-puller to students who stopped by to learn a thing or two about recycling.

"During the two open days we saw many children and students come to our booth and when I asked them what recycling is and why recycling is important, many raised their hands to tell me that they know," observed Ms Chang. "They told me that they were aware that if the garbage can be reused to a new product, that process is called recycling. Their teachers are already educating them about recycling and they know it is very good for our environment and our communities."

The St. Kitts and Nevis Solid Waste Management and Recycling Project will be joining other stakeholders on Friday May 20, at the Independence Square in Basseterre, when the research project, Improving Household Nutrition Security and Public Health in the CARICOM (also known as Food and Nutrition (FaN) project) which was conducted by the University of the West Indies' Caribbean Institute for Health Research holds a public exhibition to mark the end of the project.

The following day Saturday May 21, will see the dedicated team from the St. Kitts and Nevis Solid Waste Management and Recycling Project travel over to Nevis where they will join the local Ministry of Tourism at the Fun Day and Food Fair to be held under the auspices of Exposition Nevis Festival at the Malcolm Guishard Recreational Park in Pinney's starting from 11:00 a.m.

According to Ms Chang, such high profile events attract large numbers of people who consume foods and drinks and end up generating large amounts of garbage which when not disposed of in the right way will be detrimental to the country's environment, which the St. Kitts and Nevis Solid Waste Management and Recycling Project has vowed to protect by educating people on the right way of discarding waste through recycling.

"We will also be launching a recycling campaign in recognition of World Environment Day celebrations at the Newtown Playfield parking lot on Saturday June 4 in St. Kitts, and in Nevis on Saturday June 11 at the Delta Petroleum parking lot from 9 a.m. to 12.00 noon on both days," stated Ms Chang.

While inviting members of the general public to join in the this noble exercise, Ms Chang made the following appeal: "The general public is kindly asked to bring clean plastic bottles and metal cans to our pop-up sites where the top ten contributors by weight can win valuable prizes. We welcome you to join us in improving our environment by going green - Let's recycle!"

Officers from the Taiwan Technical Mission and volunteers from the St. Kitts and Nevis Clean Seas pose for a group picture after a successful beach clean-up that collected 311 pounds of garbage in 19 bags.

Well-Known Chinese Businessman Dies

By: Spokesman Newsroom

BASSETTERRE, St. Kitts (Wednesday 18th May 2022)-A well-known Chinese businessman, who had been residing in St. Kitts-Nevis for more than seven (7), has died.

'Sam' is the name of the deceased individual who owned and operated a supermarket located in John England Village along the island main road in the St. Peter's community.

Many people would also remember him at a restaurant he owned and operated along Cayon Street in Basseterre.

Speaking to a reliable source, it has been shared that Sam is said to have suffered a seizure and was pronounced dead at the Joseph N. France General Hospital.

Notably, a rumour that he was electrocuted from a refrigerator is not true, according to information reaching this publication.

As understood, the fatal incident happened on Sunday 15th May 2022.

Members of the community, customers, workers as well as Sam's wife gathered outside the supermarket on Wednesday 18th May for a candle light vigil in his memory.

In general, customers upon reflecting about Sam's personality continue to express sadness for the business owner who is said to have been very friendly and kind to those who visited his place of business, especially his regular shoppers.

Additionally, Sam, as some customers recall, allowed them to leave with goods if they were short of the overall balance without him making a fuss or demanding they settle the full amount or without them having to put back an item in such a case.

'Sam was cool' and 'Sam got along with everybody' are two popular phrases echoed by those saddened by his passing.

Prisoner Escapes From HMP Days After Recapture

By: Spokesman Newsroom

BASSETTERRE, St.Kitts (Wednesday 18th May 2022)-An inmate of Her Majesty's Prison (HMP) in Basseterre has escaped fifteen (15) days after he was captured after being on the run for more than fifteen (15) days when he first fled police custody.

The escapee is 20-year-old Jesus Valdez, a resident of Market Street in Basseterre who originally hails from his birthplace, the Dominican Republic.

A police statement issued on Tuesday 17th May, informed that Valdez escaped custody on May 16, 2022. Reportedly, he was on remand at the prison after being charged for the offence of assault.

He is described as having a fair complexion, black hair, brown eyes with a slim built and 5' 4" in height. Also, his date of birth is given as 01-02-2002.

Police informed about Valdez via an escaped prisoner bulletin on Thursday 14th April when he first escaped. Then on Friday 29th April, a wanted poster was issued with warrant for his arrest. He was then asked to present himself to the nearest police station.

In providing an update then on Monday 2nd May, police informed that Valdez was in police custody following a joint operation by officers of The Royal St. Christopher and Nevis Police Force and Her Majesty's Prison.

Reportedly, he was captured back then along the coastline in the C.A. Paul Southwell Industrial Site area sometime before 9 p.m. on April 30 which puts it at 16 days after he had escaped.

Police are asking anyone who sees him or knows of Valdez's whereabouts to contact Her Majesty's Prison at 465-2241 ext. 4386, the Basseterre Police Station at 465-2241, the nearest police station or the crime hotline by dialing 707.

PRESS RELEASE - 17-05/22

EASTERN CARIBBEAN TELECOMMUNICATIONS AUTHORITY

ECTEL's Story Must be Known

Castries - Saint Lucia â€ 17th May 2022 - "Before liberalisation, Cable & Wireless had exclusive long-term licences and provided all telecommunications services (local and international) in all OECS states; high tariffs even on local calls; no regulations and no recourse for consumers"; so said the feature speaker, Dr. James (Jimmy) Fletcher, as he skillfully recounted the journey of the Eastern Caribbean Telecommunications Authority (ECTEL) at its Inaugural Anniversary Lecture on May 4, 2022. The theme for the lecture in observance of ECTEL's 22nd Anniversary was "The Electronic Communications Bill: From Liberalisation to Digital Transformation".

Dr. Fletcher, the Managing Director of SOLORICON and former Chairman of ECTEL's Council of Ministers, gave a riveting lecture that highlighted the many tangible benefits of liberalisation to residents of ECTEL's Member States. He explained that it is important for the public to understand how ECTEL paved the way for other service providers to enter the electronic communications market in the region, and how, because of the competition, consumers were able to enjoy a reduction in prices and an improvement in the services being offered. Dr. Fletcher noted that it is also vitally important for ECTEL's story to be told, because when it was formed it was the first of its kind in the world - a multi-country telecommunications regulator; this he said is a significant achievement.

He went on to emphasise the urgent need for the Governments of ECTEL's five Member States, namely the Commonwealth of Dominica, Grenada, St. Kitts and Nevis, Saint Lucia and St. Vincent and the Grenadines, to pass and effectively implement

Tariffs Before and After Liberalization

SERVICE	BEFORE	AFTER
Fixed to Fixed Local Same Zone	EC$ 0.17/2 minutes	$ 0.07/min Day; $ 0.04/min nights and Weekends
Fixed to Fixed Local Outside Zone	EC$ 0.84/3 minutes	$ 0.07/min Day; $ 0.04/min nights and Weekends
IDD to USA from Fixed Line	EC$ 14.09 for 3 minutes	EC$ 1.60/minute
Across ECTEL States	EC$ 3.25/minute	EC$ 0.50/minute

the Electronic Communications Bill, also known as the EC Bill. On 18th February 2021, the Government of St. Kitts and Nevis passed the Electronic Communications Act (EC Act). "It is not right for a sector that is moving at the pace that this one is moving to take 13 years to finalise an Electronic Communications Bill. Pass the legislation and amend it as we go along," said Dr. Fletcher. He closed his address by saying that "we are poised to move ahead with this digital economy because we have a very sturdy, stable and reliable regulator, and a populace, especially our youth who are entrepreneurial, and as such, we have to create an opportunity for them to take advantage of those spaces that the digital economy is creating."

Also on hand to deliver the opening remarks was the current Chairman of ECTEL's Council of Ministers and Senior Minister in the Ministry of Infrastructure, Ports, Transport, Physical Development and Urban Renewal in Saint Lucia, Honourable Stephenson King.

According to Minister King:

"No organisation can be successful without dedicated, visionary, highly motivated and committed people. As I congratulate ECTEL, I want to recognise the late Prime Minister Roosevelt Douglas of the Commonwealth of Dominica, Prime Minister Dr. the Honourable Keith Mitchell of Grenada, former Prime Minister Dr. Denzil L. Douglas of St Kitts and Nevis, former Prime Minister Dr. The Honourable Kenny D. Anthony of Saint Lucia and the late former Prime Minister James Mitchell of St. Vincent and the Grenadines; the five Prime Ministers who signed the ECTEL Treaty back in 2000. They had the foresight to recognise that, as a whole, the ECTEL Member States could accomplish more for their citizens than any one Member State could alone."

Some of ECTEL's achievements over the years which were brought to the fore during Minister King's remarks included:

(i) ECTEL's commitment to affordable electronic communications services for all, and its recommendations for reductions in the price of fixed services and the slowing of potential increases in mobile and broadband services. This year, ECTEL recommended new mobile safeguards, which require all mobile service providers to inform customers when they are using a service out of plan, to reduce the likelihood of a customer unknowingly depleting their prepaid credit;

(ii) in 2007, ECTEL recommended a framework for Universal Service Funds in all the Member States, and has worked with the five National Telecommunications Regulatory Commissions (NTRCs) to develop a Universal Service Fund in each Member State. The USF, as it is called, allows for fees collected from service providers to be used to fund projects aimed at expanding affordable access to electronic communications services and devices. Since the launch of the USFs, a number of low-income households, persons with disabilities, schools, community access points, and health centres, have benefited from free or low-cost, high-quality internet access. The continuing need for the USF was emphasised during the COVID-19 pandemic, and several students were able to participate in remote learning using devices and subsidised services provided by the USF; and

(iii) in 2019, ECTEL implemented Mobile Number Portability across all Member States. This was a significant milestone in the development of the sector, as number portability provides benefits to service providers and consumers alike. Consumers are now free to change service provider and keep their mobile number, relieving them of the aggravation of having to notify family, friends, and clients that their number has changed. Mobile number portability also lowers the barriers to market entry, as a new service provider may find it easier to attract customers if they can keep their numbers.

The Lecture can be seen in its entirety at <https://youtu.be/SwbSOEDCMCQ>. Also, follow us at www.ectel.int or @ectel on Facebook and YouTube and @ectelauthority on Instagram and Twitter for more information about our work.

ILO/UNICEF: Social Protection Contributes To Reducing Child Labour

GENEVA (ILO News) - Social protection reduces family poverty and vulnerability, thereby diminishing key drivers of child labour, according to a new report by the International Labour Organization (ILO) and the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF).

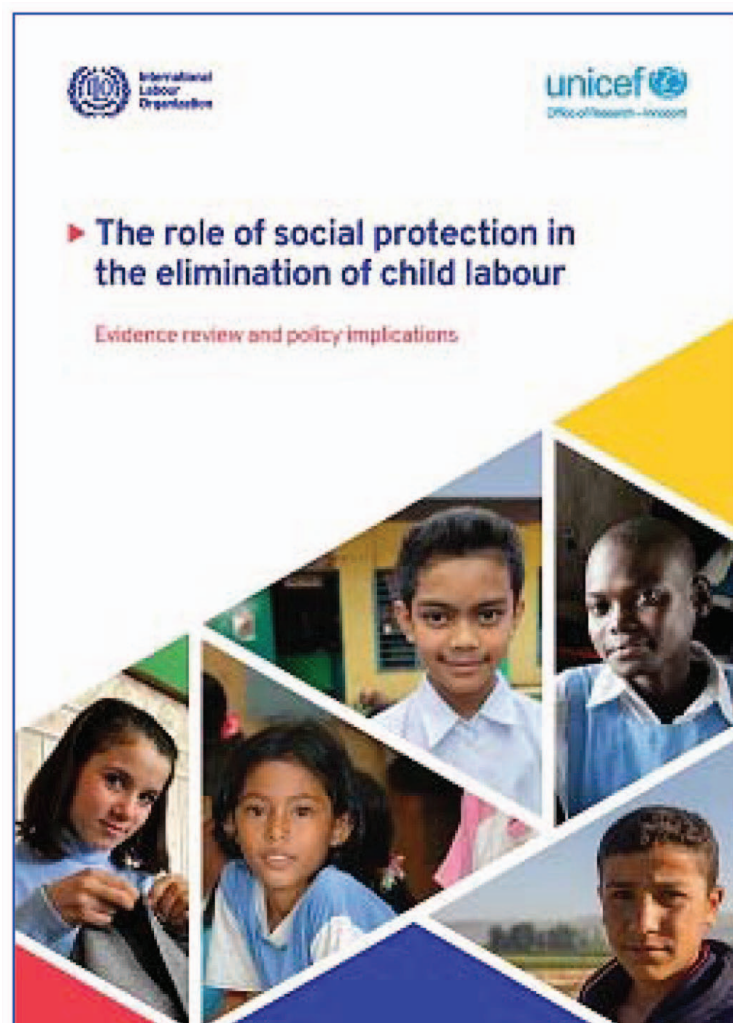

The role of social protection in the elimination of child labour: Evidence review and policy implications, presents evidence from a number of studies conducted since 2010 that show how social protection - by helping families cope with economic or health shocks - reduces child labour and facilitates schooling.

However, too little progress has been made in ensuring that all children enjoy social protection, says the study. Worldwide, 73.6 per cent, or some 1.5 billion children, aged 0-14, receive no family or child cash benefits. This large protection gap must be closed and closed rapidly, the report says.

"There are many reasons to invest in universal social protection but eliminating child labour has to be one of the most compelling, given its pernicious impact on children's rights and wellbeing," said Guy Ryder, ILO Director-General.

Governments have a range of policies they can deploy to promote social protection. If policymakers do not act decisively, the COVID-19 pandemic, ongoing conflict, rising poverty, and climate change will only increase the prevalence of child labour, the study says.

More than 160 million children worldwide - 1 in 10 children aged 5-17 - are still engaged in child labour, and progress has stalled since 2016. These trends were present even before the COVID-19 crisis. It is estimated that without mitigation strategies, the number of children in child labour could rise by 8.9 million by the end of 2022, due to higher poverty and increased vulnerability.

"There are many reasons to invest in universal social protection but eliminating child labour has to be one of the most compelling."

Guy Ryder, ILO Director-General

To strengthen social protection systems for the prevention and elimination of child labour, the report makes a number of recommendations:

- * Close the social protection coverage gap for children. This means prioritizing child benefits, as well as extending social protection to the two billion workers in the informal economy, thereby supporting their transition from the informal to the formal economy.
- * Build integrated social protection systems. Reducing child labour will be easier if countries have a social protection system that provides adequate benefits throughout the life cycle, from child and family benefits, maternity and unemployment benefits to old-age pensions, as well as health protection.
- * Ensure that the design of social protection programmes is inclusive and child-labour sensitive. This will help maximise child labour reduction and requires:
 - o Implementing child and family benefits that reach all households with children, especially those in situations of greatest vulnerability.
 - o Making it easy for caregivers to receive their social protection benefits by simplifying registration procedures and providing different benefit payment mechanisms
 - o Complementing social protection programmes with increased investment in universal, quality, basic education and other vital social services for children.
- * Build on the strong political commitment that already exists to end child labour and establish universal social protection to strengthen consensus for action. The Sustainable Development Agenda and the strong consensus agreed by the International Labour Conference in 2021, as well as the outcome of the Durban child labour conference, can help coordinate international initiatives.
- * Promote investment in social protection systems as a driver of development. Nearly all countries have the scope to mobilize domestic resources to progressively invest in reinforcing their social protection systems for children.

Recycling Project Manager Talks About Importance Of Reducing Waste

By: Precious Mills

BASSETTERRE, St.Kitts (Monday 16th May 2022)- Project Manager for the Solid Waste Management and Recycling Project Joyce Chang of the Taiwan Technical Mission is encouraging everyone in St.Kitts-Nevis to see the importance of protecting the environment in reducing garbage waste through recycling awareness.

This reporter recently had an interview interaction with her on Friday 6th May 2022 during the two-day Agriculture Open Day event held at the Newton Play field was hosted by the Ministry of Agriculture, Fisheries and Marine Resources.

Sharing details, about recycling project in the Federation, she highlighted: "We do the recycling project here. We know that in St.Kitts and Nevis, we have a lot of garbage and which is so far going to the landfill but actually too much waste is making the landfill already overloading so we want to use the recycling to reduce loading of the landfill. Also, we know that recycling is very good for the environment [in] in trying to reduce the waste and make the garbage become new product of new materials."

Chang showed this reporter some bottles made from recyclable bottle material saying "So all of this made from recyclable material whilst adding "It's not only that... the tissue is also made from waste paper."

She added: "So this is some idea to teach people that when you do recycle what it would become so people can have some awareness that this is very important. Also, we use the games here. As you can see the children play the games so we use the different category 'you can see glass, paper, metal, plastic. Children can play the game to sort the waste out so they can have some awareness how to sort the waste in their homes."

Additionally, she said that during the event, individuals were also informed about a recyclable collection project that will begin in June 2022.

"In St.Kitts and Nevis from June we will start to collect the plastic bottles and metal cans. So in St.Kitts and Nevis, we also have different locations like Conaree, Buckley's and Dieppe Bay and also Nevis. We have identified some schedules so every Tuesday, we will be there to collect the bottles, the recyclables.

Haven't Had COVID Yet? It Could Be More Than Just Luck

By: Dr Lindsay Broadbent, PhD,
Queen's University Belfast

Even taking into account people who have had COVID but didn't know it, there's still likely to be a group of people who have never been infected.

London, UK - 9 July 2021: Crowd seen wearing protective face masks while shopping in Borough Market. Photo credit: I Wei Huang (Shutterstock - Item ID: 2016939578).

We all know a few of those lucky people who, somehow, have managed to avoid ever catching COVID. Perhaps you're one of them. Is this a Marvel-esque superpower? Is there any scientific reason why a person might be resistant to becoming infected, when the virus seems to be everywhere? Or is it simply luck?

More than 60% of people in the UK have tested positive for COVID at least once. However, the number of people who have actually been infected with SARS-CoV-2, the virus that causes COVID-19, is thought to be higher. The calculated rate of asymptomatic infections varies depending on the study, though most agree it's fairly common.

But even taking into account people who have had COVID and not realised it, there is still likely a group of people who never have. The reason why some people appear immune to COVID is one question that has persisted throughout the pandemic. As with so much in science, there isn't (yet) one simple answer.

We can probably dismiss the Marvel-esque superpower theory. But science and luck likely both have a role to play. Let's take a look.

The simplest explanation is that these people have never come into contact with the virus. This could certainly be the case for people who have been shielding during the pandemic. People at significantly greater risk of severe disease, such as those with chronic heart or lung conditions, have had a tough couple of years. Many of them continue to take precautions to avoid potential exposure to the virus. Even with additional safety measures, many of these people have ended up with COVID.

Due to the high level of community transmission, particularly with the extremely transmissible omicron variants, it's very unlikely that someone going to work or school, socialising and shopping hasn't been near someone infected with the virus. Yet there are people who have experienced high levels of exposure, such as hospital workers or family members of people who have had COVID, who have somehow managed to avoid testing positive.

We know from several studies vaccines not only reduce the risk of severe disease, but they can also cut the chance of household transmission of SARS-CoV-2 by about half. So certainly vaccination could have helped some close contacts avoid becoming infected. However, it's important to note that these studies were done pre-omicron. The data we have on the effect of vaccination on omicron transmission is still limited.

Some theories

One theory around why certain people have avoided infection is that, although they are exposed to the virus, it fails to establish an infection even after gaining entry to the airways. This could be due to a lack of the receptors needed for SARS-CoV-2 to gain access to cells.

Once a person does become infected, researchers have identified that differences in the immune response to SARS-CoV-2 play a role in determining the severity of symptoms. It is possible that a quick and robust immune response could prevent the virus from replicating to any great degree in the first instance.

The efficacy of our immune response to infection is largely defined by our age and our genetics. That said, a healthy lifestyle certainly helps. For example, we know that vitamin D deficiency can increase the risk of certain infections. Not getting enough sleep can also have a detrimental effect on our body's ability to fight invading pathogens.

SARS-CoV-2 viruses binding to ACE-2 receptors on a human cell, the initial stage of COVID-19 infection. The virus needs to attach to receptors to gain access to our cells. Conceptual 3D illustration by Kateryna Kon (Shutterstock - Item ID: 1687909009).

Scientists studying the underlying causes of severe COVID have identified a genetic cause in nearly 20% of critical cases. Just as genetics could be one determining factor of disease severity, our genetic makeup may also hold the key to resistance to SARS-CoV-2 infection.

I research SARS-CoV-2 infection on nasal cells from human donors. We grow these cells on plastic dishes which we can then add virus to and investigate how the cells respond. During our research we found one donor whose cells could not be infected with SARS-CoV-2.

We discovered some really interesting genetic mutations, including several involved with the body's immune response to infection, that could explain why. A mutation we identified in a gene involved with sensing the presence of a virus has previously been shown to confer resistance to HIV infection.

Our research is on a small number of donors and highlights that we're still only scraping the surface of research into genetic susceptibility or resistance to infections.

There's also the possibility that previous infection with other types of coronaviruses results in cross-reactive immunity. This is where our immune system may recognise SARS-CoV-2 as being similar to a recent invading virus and launch an immune response.

There are seven coronaviruses that infect humans: four that cause the common cold, and one each that cause Sars (severe acute respiratory syndrome), Mers (Middle East respiratory syndrome) and COVID.

How long-lasting this immunity may be is another question. Seasonal coronaviruses that circulated pre-2020 were able to reinfect the same people after 12 months.

If you've managed to avoid COVID to date, maybe you do have natural immunity to SARS-CoV-2 infection, or perhaps you've just been lucky. Either way, it's sensible to continue to take precautions against this virus that we still know so little about.

Legislators From 32 European Countries And Canada Sign Up For Taiwan's WHA Bid

By Matthew Strong, Staff Writer

Letter to WHO director-general calls for Taiwan's inclusion in global health system.

TAIPEI (Taiwan News) - A total of 1,504 parliamentarians from 32 European countries and Canada signed a letter to The World Health Organization (WHO) backing Taiwan's bid to attend the World Health Assembly (WHA), reports said on Thursday 19 May.

As in previous years Taiwan has not been invited to the annual conference, this year scheduled for 22 to 28 May in Geneva, Switzerland, but international support for its bid to attend as an observer has increased in scope amid the COVID-19 pandemic.

A pro-Taiwan association of lawmakers, the Formosa Club, said its co-chairs were among the 1,504 members of the European Parliament and national legislators who signed a letter to WHO Director-General Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus, CNA reported.

The document praised Taiwan for providing the world with "a model for pandemic prevention" while noting that "educational and business activities in Taiwan have never been seriously interrupted."

The Formosa Club mentioned that the country had not only managed its domestic COVID situation but also contributed to international efforts to fight the pandemic through its donations of medical masks, vaccines, and equipment to more than 80 countries.

Without mentioning China's campaign to block Taiwan from international organizations, such as The WHO, the letter noted that "Matters of global health should focus solely on people's well-being and must not be politicized."

The country's "unjust" absence from the health forum was detrimental to both Taiwan's population and to the international community, the signatories said.

The letter closed by calling on Ghebreyesus to invite Taiwan to the 75th edition of The WHA, and to normalize its

UN Floats Plan To Boost Renewables As Climate Worries Mount

- By Jamey Keaten

His Excellency Mr Antonio Guterres, Secretary-General of The United Nations, as he addressed the media during a joint press conference with His Excellency Mr Alexander Van der Bellen, President of Austria, in Vienna on Wednesday 11 May 2022. Photo credit: Theresa Wey (AP).

GENEVA (AP) - The United Nations chief on Wednesday launched a five-point plan to jump-start broader use of renewable energies, hoping to revive world attention on climate change, as the UN's weather agency reported that greenhouse gas concentrations, ocean heat, sea-level rise, and ocean acidification hit new records last year.

"We must end fossil fuel pollution and accelerate the renewable energy transition before we incinerate our only home," UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres said. "Time is running out."

His latest stark warning about possible environmental disaster comes after The World Meteorological Organization (WMO) issued its State of the Climate Report for 2021, which said the last seven years were the seven hottest on record. The impacts of extreme weather have led to deaths and disease, migration, and economic losses in the hundreds of billions of dollars - and the fallout is continuing this year, WMO said.

"Today's State of the Climate report is a dismal litany of humanity's failure to tackle climate disruption," Mr Guterres said. "The global energy system is broken and bringing us ever closer to climate catastrophe."

In his plan, which leans into the next UN climate conference taking place in Egypt in November, Guterres called for fostering technology transfer and lifting of intellectual property protections in renewable technologies, like battery storage.

Such ambitions - as with his call for transfers of technologies aimed to fight COVID-19 - can cause innovators and their financial backers to bristle: They want to reap the benefits of their knowledge, investments and discoveries - not just give them away.

Secondly, Guterres wants to broaden access to supply chains and raw materials that go into renewable technologies, which are now concentrated in a few powerful countries.

The UN chief also wants governments to reform in ways that can promote renewable energies, such as by fast-tracking solar and wind projects.

Fourth, he called for a shift away from government subsidies for fossil fuels that now total a half-trillion dollars per year. That's no easy task: Such subsidies can ease the pinch in many consumers' pockets - but ultimately help inject cash into corporate coffers too.

"While people suffer from high prices at the pump, the oil and gas industry is raking in billions from a distorted market," Mr Guterres said. "This scandal must stop."

Finally, Mr Guterres says private and public investments in renewable energy must triple to at least $4 trillion dollars a year. He noted that government subsidies for fossil fuels are today more than three times higher than those for renewables.

Those UN initiatives are built upon a central idea: That human-generated emissions of greenhouse gas in the industrial era have locked in excess heat in the atmosphere, on the Earth's surface, and in the oceans and seas. The knock-on effect has contributed to more frequent and severe natural disasters like drought, hurricanes, flooding and forest fires.

Climate scientist Zeke Hausfather of the tech company Stripe and Berkeley Earth, a nonprofit focused on environmental data science, says a good way to head toward net-zero emissions is "to make clean energy cheap."

"While rich countries can afford to spend extra on clean energy, poor and middle income countries may be less willing to accept tradeoffs between reducing emissions and lifting millions out of abject poverty," he said. "If clean energy sources are cheaper than fossil fuels, they become a win-win and will be adopted more rapidly."

The WMO report breaks little new ground in terms of data, but compiles earlier studies into a broader picture of the global climate.

Its secretary-general Mr Petteri Taalas pointed to a downward blip in emissions in 2020 when the coronavirus pandemic dampened human activity. But he said that doesn't change the "big picture" because carbon dioxide - a leading greenhouse gas - has a long lifetime and lingers on, and emissions have been growing since then anyway.

"We have seen this steady growth of carbon dioxide concentration, which is related to the fact that we are still using too much fossil fuel," Taalas said in an interview. "Deforestation in regions like Amazon, Africa and southern Asia still continue."

Last year's UN climate conference in Glasgow, Scotland, failed to muster carbon-cutting pledges from the

"BRICS" countries - Brazil, Russia, India, China, and South Africa - which threaten a key goal of the 2015 Paris accord to limit global warming to 1.5 degrees Celsius, he said.

"We are rather heading towards 2.5 to 3 degree warming instead of 1.5," Taalas said.

Climate experts lauded the UN ambitions and lamented the WMO findings, and said some countries are headed in the wrong direction.

"If climate change is death by one thousand cuts, in 2021 we took our thousandth," said Rob Jackson, professor of Earth System Science at Stanford University, who also chairs the Global Carbon Project that tracks carbon emissions.

"Dirty coal use roared back through economic stimulation incentives for COVID in China and India. We built more new coal plant capacity worldwide than we took offline," he added. "How is this possible in 2021?"

Jonathan Overpeck, a professor of environmental education at The University of Michigan, noted that fossil fuels have a role in the Russian government's war in Ukraine. Russia is a key global producer of oil and gas, including through a pipeline that transits Ukraine to supply homes and businesses in Europe.

"The secretary-general has it right in pointing the blame at fossil fuels. Fossil fuels are creating an ever-worsening climate crisis and all that comes with it," Overpeck said. "The solution for climate change, the deadly air pollution and true national security, is to leave fossil fuels behind in favor of clean renewable energy."

"It's getting scary," he added. "The climate crisis and the European war are a call to action, and to rid the planet of fossil fuels as fast as we can."

How To Choose A Toothbrush And When To Throw It Out

By Ladawn Brock, Texas A&M University

The toothbrush is the most basic tool for maintaining healthy teeth, but many people give their toothbrush little thought and don’t know when to swap it out for a new one.

It can also be difficult to choose what type of brush to use: manual or electric, hard or soft bristles.

To answer these common questions here is some advice from a professional, Assistant Professor Jane Cotter, RDH, MS, CTTS, of The Caruth School of Dental Hygiene at the College of Dentistry, Texas A&M University.

How often should a toothbrush be replaced?

Often, people latch on to one favorite toothbrush and use it until it’s completely worn out. But Cotter said you need to replace it more often than you might think.

“The American Dental Association recommends that toothbrushes need to be replaced every three months,” she said. “Toothbrushes used longer than three months can become frayed and may damage the gingiva (gums).”

Assistant Professor Cotter says the three-month timeline applies to both manual and electric toothbrush heads, but sometimes brushes have to be replaced earlier.

“If the bristles of the toothbrush are fraying or are spreading out, then the brush needs to be replaced,” she said. “Some toothbrushes have bristles that change color over time to help patients know when they need replacing.”

According to Cotter toothbrushes and toothbrush heads should also be replaced if someone has been sick. Viruses, including cold, flu and the coronavirus, thrive in a moist environment and can spread through physical contact. While sick, socially distance your toothbrush - don’t share a common toothbrush holder with others.

“It is important to store your toothbrush in a vertical, upright position in the open air so that it will dry out between uses,” Cotter said. “This helps control bacterial and fungal growth on the bristles.”

What is the best toothbrush to use?

“Research has consistently shown that electric toothbrushes clean better than manual toothbrushes,” Cotter said. “Most electric toothbrushes have a two-minute timer that beeps or pulses every 30 seconds to alert the user to move to a different quadrant or area of the mouth. Some of the new toothbrushes also have an app that will show the user where they are missing when brushing.”

Some individuals prefer a hard-bristled toothbrush to clean teeth, but dental professionals don’t typically recommend them. Firm or hard toothbrushes can actually damage the tooth enamel, Cotter says, so it is better to go with a soft bristle toothbrush.

At the end of the day, understanding what toothbrush to use and following proper toothbrush maintenance will help keep those pearly whites healthy.

WHO CAN TRUST THIS MAN?

BY: EARLE CLARKE - 12/05/2022

“Trust, honesty, humility, transparency and accountability are the building blocks for a good relationship. Trust is the foundation of any relationship”: Mike Paul, 18th April, 1945.

Dear reader, our country is in crisis, and it is left to us the electorate to rescue it from out of this morass (soggy ground). Too many of us, the electorate, think only about ourselves and not the country. A representative comes and places a thousand dollars in your hands and you think that that is a lot of money, but how much is he going to collect monthly after he has bought your vote and how well would he think about you after he has bought your vote? When we Black people were brought here to work as slaves for free, we were slaves and were sold. We were so-called emancipated in 1838 after working for four years extra (1834-1838) while our slave Massa's haggled for compensation, because we were considered his personal property, and he was losing us!! Imagine that?

In 1995, the Labour Party, headed by Dr. Denzil L. Douglas, who became its leader in 1987, won the general elections. Dr. Timothy Harris did not as yet obtain his Doctoral degree. During his tenure as Minister of Government, he sought leave to pursue his Doctoral degree and was granted permission to do so, with full pay. Whereas Civil Servants received 3/5 (three fifths) of their salary whilst on study leave, he a Minister of Government, was receiving his full pay. In his absence from his duties as Minister of Government, Dr. Douglas neglected his own Constituency, manned the portfolios of Dr. Timothy Harris and looked after the affairs of Dr Harris' Constituents.

Any right-thinking person would readily agree that this measure of assistance by Dr. Douglas would merit appreciation by Dr. Harris, who would express some form of gratitude to him for defying his other Cabinet colleagues and allowing him to travel abroad to study. Instead of returning home and expressing gratitude to Dr. Douglas, now armed with his Doctoral degree, Dr. Harris entered his office and asked Dr. Douglas, “When are you going to turn over the Leadership of the Party to me?” Biting the hand which allowed him to travel abroad to obtain that Doctoral degree? I used to hear my departed grandmother say, “Ungratefulness is worse than witchcraft!!”

What a display of ungratefulness? Ernest Wigley, a strong Labour supporter, upon learning about the treachery and, hailing from Dr. Harris' Constituency of # 7, decided to bring Dr. Douglas and Dr. Harris together to trash out the fault, the differences existing between them. Dr. Harris agreed to a certain date and time which Ernest Wigley related to Dr. Douglas. When the date and time arrived and Dr. Harris did not show up, Ernest Wigley got wind that Dr. Harris, who was still a Member of the Labour

Government and Chairman of the St. Kitts Labour Party was at his private home in Tabernacle holding a meeting with the hierarchy and some supporters of PAM. It must be noted that PAM was in the political wilderness for nigh 20 years in St. Kitts.

When Earnest Wigley arrived at Dr. Harris' home, he met him in a meeting with The PAM (The People's Acton Movement) hierarchy, who were urging him to leave the Labour Movement and join forces with them and that they would make him Prime Minister. They also promised that they would ensure that their supporters vote for him. Who can trust such a man? Having been given that assurance of leadership by the PAMITES, Dr Timothy Harris, Minister of Government and Chairman of the Labour Party, Dr. Harris secretly campaigned in his # 7 Constituency, asking his electorate, if he ran on his own, would they still vote for him? Wasn't this a Judas Iscariot act of treachery committed by Dr. Timothy Harris against Dr. Denzil Douglas and the Labour Party of which he was still a member and Chairman? Where was Dr. Harris testicular fortitude, where were his principles? Chairman of the Labour Movement, Minister of the Labour Government who was a supporter of the Labour Movement from a tot (a little child)? You can see people's outside; but can you never cannot see the contents of their hearts!

Dr. Timothy Harris displayed loudly and visibly that treachery is in his DNA and, just as how a leopard cannot change its spots, so too, he cannot change who he was born to be, - “A TRAITOR!” He/she who associates with him, does so at their own peril for A TRAITOR will always remain a TRAITOR, unworthy of friendship and unworthy of others trust. When you think that he has his unswerving trust and confidence, he will pull the rug from under you (betray) without any remorse whatsoever. Dr Timothy Harris is all about Dr. Timothy Harris and his family and to hell with everyone else! Action speaks louder than words? A word to the wise is enough.

Elbert Hubbard, a USA writer, June 19, 1856-May 7th, 1915, wrote this quotation, “If you work for a man, in heavens name, work for him, speak well of him and stand by the institution he represents. Remember, an ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of cleverness. If you want to growl, condemn, find fault, resign your position and, when you are outside, damn the institution to your heart's content; but, as long as you are still a part of the institution, do not condemn it. If you do, the first wind that comes along will blow you away and you would never know why?” The unity mirage government forged by Dr. Timothy Harris' P.L.P, PAM and C.C.M was always about Timothy Harris and his family?

If Dr. Harris was a man of noble character, he would not have been involved in so many scandals The stem cell, the Chinese fugitive, the herpes, the Hushpuppi, the shoes and watch). If Mark Brantley and Shawn Richards were men of superlative (the highest degree) of character, they would have never joined up with Dr. Timothy for what he did to the Labour Movement, but you see, PAM was in the political wilderness for nigh 20 years and, joining with this TRAITOR, was a means of coming out of that political wilderness and become Government Ministers. If Shawn and Mark were fortified with testicular fortitude, upon hearing about the many scandals in which Dr. Harris was involved since assuming office, they would readily and easily have dumped him overboard; they were in the majority, so, choose a new Leader.

When Dr. Harris was involved in the “shoes and the watch scandal” and they were holding secret meetings in boats in the channel to dump him overboard and to choose a new leader, why is it that they could not accomplish their mission? Why none of them decided to step forth to redeem their good name and character, when Dr. Harris, upon learning of their plan to dump him, ran to the safety of his constituency and uttered these words, “I HEAR THAT SOME OF THEM HAVE TAKEN THEIR SUITS TO THE DRY CLEANERS TO BE SWORN IN AS PRIME MINISTER, BUT THERE WILL BE NO SWEARING IN CEREMONY, BECAUSE NONE OF THEM CAN HOLD A CANDLE OF CORRECTION UP TO ME?”

This was a glorious opportunity for Mark Brantley and Shawn Richards to step forward to redeem their good name and character. Having failed to redeem their good name and character the electorate must conclude that they are “ALL PAINTED, TARRED, WITH THE BRUSH CORRUPTION!” Who can trust Dr, Timothy Harris who is riddled with so many scandals? Who can trust brothers Mark Brantley and Shawn who could not defend their good name and character against Dr. Harris? THE QUESTION NOW POSED IS, “WHAT DOES DR. TIMOTHY HARRIS HAVE HANGING OVER THEIR HEADS? ARE THESE TRUSTWORTHY MEN TO GOVERN OUR BELOVED COUNTRY?”

Recycling Project Manager Talks...

Also, we tell people what can be recycle and what cannot be recyclable.”

Chang touched on the rewards and incentives that will be part of that public awareness efforts.

“So if you bring a recyclable for us, one pound will be one point so if you get more points then you can exchange it for some eco-friendly products like shopping bags, eating tools and bottles.”

She continued: “We will like to use your changed behaviour and collect some reward and also continue to do some recycle and continue to reduce the waste. So this is very good concept, we encourage people to join with us and we will start to do this project in June.”

In speaking with Chang, this reporter learnt that the recyclable items collected will be packaged and shipped overseas to recycling plants.

Asked about the importance of recycling, she commented: “We know that everyone will create the garbage right but what we can do could reduce the waste ...so it's very good to protect our environment , protect our earth plus [and] of course protect our island and community to make our environment better.”

POWER, GREED AND FRESH ELECTIONS

By: FAIR SHARE FOR ALL

Those of us who voted in 1993 and again in 1995 would have never in our wildest dreams thought as we waited in line in 2020 to cast our vote that in 2022 we would be voting in another general elections again.

A set of immature, little people were in power and if we paid attention to what all of the ministers of government were saying, none of them wanted fresh elections. In fact, even after the PAM ministers were holding their town hall meetings and Timothy was having his press conference, PAM and CCM were still trying to engage with Timothy to see if they could resolve and not dissolve.

Anybody who understands Timothy could have told them that he wasn't going to bow. If we paid attention to what he was saying, it was clear that he felt that they couldn't do without him because to quote him, where they were weak, he made them strong. In other words, they needed him if they were going to be in government.

And because PAM and CCM didn't understand who they were in bed with, they believed that Timothy needed them if he wanted to be in government. So they pushed and they pushed because they were both convinced that one side couldn't do without the other and someone would give in. And before they knew what had hit them, they had "mash it up".

And that is why we are voting in another general elections in 2022.

But it's not just the pushing. The kinds of things that were revealed and the kinds of things that have happened since Timothy got rid of the PAM/CCM faction are cause for great concern and alarm. Reasonable people should be terrified to put any of these parties in power because their only motivations are money, power and greed.

Just as in 1995 we needed fresh elections and a fresh set of people with fresh ideas to get the job done, right now we need fresh, untainted leadership to get us out of this political mess. With all the new suits and haircuts that Shawn's handlers have him wearing to change his image, he really is not ready for prime time.

The new suits and the hair cuts just won't cut it. Pun intended. The neager business type of politics that he thrives on is not what is needed at all. We need leaders who can sit down in any forum with anybody and make valuable contributions for the country's advancement.

Truth be told again. Only when the St. Kitts-Nevis Labour Party has been in power has the country seen meaningful, sustained development. Any major investment has happened under Labour's watch.

That sort of leadership is what is needed. It is only the real Labour Party that can provide that leadership. It is in our DNA. When Labour is in power, the people benefit. Housing revolutions take place. Thousands get university education. Thousands of jobs are created.

CPL is here because of Labour. Music Festival is here because of Labour. The Kim Collins Stadium is here because of Labour. The cricket stadium is here because of Labour. On the other hand, the stem cell scandal is here because of Unity. The herpes scandal is here because of Unity. The Virdee scandal is here because of Unity. The Hushpuppi scandal is here because of Unity.

General Elections are here in two years because of Unity.

It's a new day. A better way. Make your vote count. Vote for the ever caring hand of Labour.

Andrew Symonds: Former Australia cricketer dies aged 46 in car crash

From the section Cricket BBC SPORTS

Andrew Symonds attended his former team-mate Shane Warne's state memorial earlier in March Former Australia cricketer Andrew Symonds has died aged 46 after being involved in a car crash.

The all-rounder played 26 Tests, 198 one-day internationals and 14 Twenty20s for Australia between 1998 and 2009.

A powerful batter, canny bowler and fine fielder, Symonds was part of two 50-over World Cup wins and Australia's Ashes victory over England in 2006-07.

Queensland police said early information indicated Symonds' car "left the roadway and rolled".

A statement added: "Emergency services attempted to revive the 46-year-old driver and sole occupant, however, he died of his injuries.

"The forensic crash unit is investigating."

Symonds' wife Laura told the Brisbane Courier Mail: "We are still in shock - I'm just thinking of the two kids."

Cricket Australia said it was "shocked and saddened by the news".

Report

Born in Birmingham but raised in Australia, Symonds played county cricket in the UK for Gloucestershire, Kent, Lancashire and Surrey.

He also played for Queensland for 17 seasons, and for Deccan Chargers and Mumbai Indians in the Indian Premier League.

Symonds' exploits with Gloucestershire, who he had initially represented as a domestic player, earned him a call-up for an England A tour in 1995 - but he declined the offer and chose to pursue his ambitions to play for Australia, making his ODI debut three years later.

He had jointly held the record for most sixes hit in a County Championship innings - he hit 16 in a knock for Gloucestershire against Glamorgan in 1995 - until Ben Stokes bettered his total last week.

Jofra Archer: England pace bowler to miss summer with back injury

By Stephan Shemilt
Chief cricket writer

From the section Cricket bbc sports

Archer expected to make his return to action this summer

England fast bowler Jofra Archer will miss the entire season after suffering a stress fracture of the lower back.

It is another setback for the 27-year-old, who has not played since last July following two elbow operations.

Archer was on track in his recovery and was hoping to play domestic cricket this month, only to feel soreness in his back last week.

He is also set to miss the T20 World Cup in Australia this autumn, with no timeframe set for his return.

It is the latest injury to an England pace bowler, with seven - including Archer - ruled out of the summer's first Test against New Zealand.

Of the other six, four - Sam Curran, Olly Stone, Matt Fisher and Saqib Mahmood - have back injuries.

This new blow will be a concern for Archer, once England's most exciting pace prospect but now facing more than a year on the sidelines.

Called up just before the 2019 World Cup, he memorably bowled the 'super over' that helped England triumph in the final against New Zealand at Lord's.

He made his Test debut on the same ground against Australia later that summer, bowling a ferocious spell that resulted in Steve Smith being struck on the helmet and suffering a concussion.

Archer has played 13 Tests, 17 one-dayers and 12 T20s for England, taking 86 international wickets. His last appearance for England was in March of 2021.

He has also had a successful career in franchise leagues and was named as the Most Valuable Player in the Indian Premier League in 2020.

significant loss for Australian cricket, following the deaths of former wicketkeeper Rod Marsh and legendary leg-spinner Shane Warne earlier this year.

Cricket Australia chair Lachlan Henderson said: "Australian cricket has lost another of its very best. Andrew was a generational talent who was instrumental in Australia's success at World Cups and as part of Queensland's rich cricket history.

"He was a cult figure to many who was treasured by his fans and friends."

CEO Nick Hockley added: "Andrew was a much-loved and admired cricketer in Australia and around the world.

"He was a prodigious talent from an early age in Queensland with his clean ball-striking ability, shrewd spin bowling and brilliant fielding.

"He will be sadly missed by the Australian cricket community and particularly his very close friends at the Queensland Bulls where he was a popular and much-admired team-mate and friend.

"Our thoughts are with his family and friends at this devastatingly sad time."
