Celebrate Women Everyday

With 365 days per year and sometimes and extra one when there is a leap year, the worldwide accomplishments of women can be celebrated! Gone are the days when women were placed on the backburner of societal norms and expectations.

Women should automatically be celebrated and applauded for the numerous contributions to society, households, cooperate community, nation building, and list could go on and on. But of course, the annals of history can take us back to many chapters when this was not the case. At present though, the records of history keeps in the making of documenting stories of the many strides of women.

Each year on 8th march, globally the day is observed as International Women's Day! The occasion is ideally meant to celebrate the achievements of women-social, political, cultural and economic.

"DigitALL: Innovation and technology for gender equality" has been chosen as this year's theme, and in every society around the globe, many of us can point out the accomplishments women have made in the digital world. Here in St. Kitts and Nevis is no exception. Female heads of telecommunication corporations are prime example and we also have specialists in the Information Technology field.

There are female engineers, construction workers, bus drivers, athletes- you name it.

'Anything you can do, I can do better' captures the mood of many women feel when they make space and create space for themselves and other women- whether in the areas of sports, the arts, science, technology and yet again the list can go on and on.

It can be said numerous times that gone are the days of when being a homemaker and housewife is no longer the expected label. But of course many women, too, excel at balancing their professional and family life which complements the popular accolade which uplifts and marvels at the strength of a woman.

Women are empowered and the accomplishments keep on coming. Ceilings are being shattered

Speaking of which, this week the Federation's first female Governor General Dame Marcella Liburd was the first time recipient of a new category 'Ceiling Shatterer' during the annual Department of Gender Affairs International Women's Day Award ceremony.

Minister of State responsible for Social Development and Gender Affairs Isalean Phillip read Dame Marcella's biography; prior to which she shared with the audience that it was a pleasure to do so since "for me personally, I've always been a fan girl..."

The young government minister recalled growing up, she would have observed Dame Marcella in areas politics, party development and advocacy" and she always [was] the sole woman; always was the only woman so it's always been a pleasure to see her and the contributions she's given to community development and political life as well as the humility that she has always displayed..."

No doubt that the fan girl was inspired, and now look at her today in the political field likewise with such empowerment drive.

Moving on, the Gender Affairs Minister in her own mindfulness is encouraging a supportive sisterhood system is calling on women to support each other.

In an address for IWD, she referred in part that empowerment calls for us as women to look beyond the trivial differences between ourselves and to see that we have more in common than we tend to admit.

She said also that such compels us to practice tolerance and mindfulness to be kinder to each other.

Encouraging words. Sound advice. Ladies be encouraged.

In the celebration of women, we must always remember to celebrate and support ourselves.

Fan girl energy is empowerment and role model energy for the betterment of us all!

Locals Rush To Assist Tourist Wounded In Traffic Accident

By: Spokesman Newsroom

BASSETERRE, St.Kitts (Tuesday 7th March 2023) - Information reaching this media house indicates that in the aftermath of a recent traffic accident at the South East Peninsula, locals rushed to assist the visitor who suffered a serious foot injury.

An eyewitness recalled how a tip about ice being good for the numbing of the wound saw a local taxi operator rushing to a beach bar to fetch some ice in attempting to provide help to the situation.

“...they said ice was good for it [the injury],” the individual stated. As understood, the woman who did not speak English was seen screaming in pain following the accident.

A police statement issued on Monday 6th March 2023, indicated that Police are investigating a traffic accident that took place at the Southeast Peninsula in which persons were injured.

Reportedly, the accident occurred sometime after 2 p.m. on March 05, 2023 and involved motor car PA1499 which is owned by Adrian Tuckett of St. Peters and was being driven by Makevon Williams of Wades Garden and Motorcycle R106 owned by Sunny Blue Scooter Rental and was being driven by Marko Zitek of Slovenia accompanied by pillion rider Stasa Mista.

Police say investigations so far have revealed that while taking a curve in the road on his way to Reggae Beach, Williams lost control of the car and collided with the motorcycle which was traveling in the opposite direction. Both the cyclist and his pillion rider fell and sustained injuries. The lower portion of Mista’s right leg was severed at the scene.

Both were transported to the JNF General Hospital via the Emergency Medical Service, where they were treated for their injuries.

Police further reported that Mista was warded at the Intensive Care Unit in a stable condition, while Zitek was discharged after having only sustained minor lacerations and bruises.

Reportedly, Williams is in Police custody assisting with the ongoing investigations into the matter.

That day following the accident, via social media, a video was circulated showing the woman’s injured while at the scene.

Gender Affairs Minister Encourages Supportive Sisterhood Systems

By: Precious Mills

BASSETTERRE, St.Kitts (Thursday 9th March 2023)-Minister of State responsible for Social Development and Gender Affairs Isalean Phillip has given some sisterhood advice geared towards calling on women to be a supportive system for each other.

On Wednesday 8th March 2023, in an address on the occasion of International Women's Day (IWD), she used the opportunity for such encouragement.

The Gender Affairs Minister referred to an African proverb that says 'If you want to go fast go alone but if you want to go far go together.'

According to her: "As women, we have an extraordinary responsibility to work together in order to achieve permanent and positive social and economic change. The term empowerment does not merely reference us acquiring higher level jobs in the public and private sectors such as managerial and CEO positions or as permanent secretaries and government ministers. Empowerment as its core is also personal. It calls for supportive sisterhoods that involve more meaningful levels of appreciation, connection and community involvement."

Phillip continued: "Similarly, a key aspect of women's empowerment is the need for women to form supportive systems for each other simply because we are women and many of our struggles are identical. It calls for us as women to look beyond the trivial differences between ourselves and to see that we have more in common than we tend to admit. It compels us to practice tolerance and mindfulness to be kinder to each other."

"Women empowerment urges us to understand that our words are the psychological keys that either unlock confidence and high esteem or lock us into different levels of insecurities," she encouraged.

Touching on this year's IWD theme "DigitALL: Innovation and technology for gender equality", she pointed out that it "brings to the core the many achievements of women in STEM, Science, Technology, Engineering, the Arts and Mathematics."

Phillip went on to say: "Globally, we are recognizing the advancement of women in the areas of transformative technology and digital education as integral areas for innovation and development. Women's contribution in all areas of socio-economic development in St.Kitts and Nevis are pivotal. We must value and honour the pioneering women, the leading women in different fields including sports, education, business, agriculture and politics."

"As a result of these contributions, our society has steadily shifted culture and beliefs that women are only to be homebound and only concerned with domestic responsibilities or in caretaker roles. Increasing involvement of women in other and all roles especially areas traditionally dominated by men is imperative if we are really to achieve sustainable development goal 5-Gender Equality and Equity."

Additionally, Phillip outlined that fortunately, in St.Kitts and in Nevis, our education system continues to incorporate innovative and technological changes in order to stay in sync with education in the digital age.

"It is the commitment of this Labour administration to reinstate the laptop programme in public schools to equip students with devices so that they can stay abreast of learning with the digital age. If we wish to reduce the digital divide between males, females and the older and young generations, it is important for us to provide the technological resources to support this thrust."

She informed that: "In our high schools and sixth form colleges, students are also afforded equal opportunities to pursue studies in STEAM and to date, there are actually more females studying in this area than there are males which is an indicator of our Federation's progressive when it comes to women's empowerment in this regard."

NIA hosts 3rd Annual Women's Self-Empowerment Workshop on International Women's Day

NIA CHARLESTOWN NEVIS (March 09, 2023)- The 3rd Annual Women's Self-Empowerment Workshop, organised by the Premier's Office in the Nevis Island Administration (NIA), was held on March 08, 2023, to coincide with the celebration of International Women's Day.

As coordinator of the event, Ms. Latoya Jones, Advisor in the Office of the Premier, said the aim of the workshop is to educate, celebrate, uplift and support women of different occupations, the unemployed and especially women who are often marginalized. This year, the workshop focused on the use of innovation and technology as a tool for empowerment, in keeping with the theme for International Women's Day 2023 "DigitALL: Innovation and technology for gender equality".

"Today we will discuss how technology can advance the lives of women, IT innovations, and what aspects of technology are empowering for women. We will also discuss women in the workplace, formal and social education, self-sustainability and financial liberation," she outlined during the opening ceremony for the workshop, held at the Malcolm Guishard Recreational Park.

"Our world is ever-changing and evolving, and we therefore have to adapt and take advantage of change. On this note, it is very important for us as women to use innovation and technology to empower ourselves and eliminate disparity and inequality. It is time for us to bridge the gap in digital access and unlock technology's full potential. It is time for women to have more representation in STEM education and career paths. Today, let us move in the right direction and eliminate these barriers."

Mr. Wakely Daniel, Permanent Secretary in the Premier's Ministry, said although women in Nevis, the wider Federation, and worldwide have broken the glass ceiling and achieved success across all spheres of society, there is still room for growth and improvement as it relates to equality for women. He encouraged the participants to use technology and innovation to create opportunities.

"The theme today speaks about technology ...and I know some of you here are very technologically savvy. The theme urges women globally to get involved in technology and perhaps we have among you someone who will invent something technological that can advance the world. It does not have to be anything huge at one point of time, you may take it step by step and you advance and you connect the world or you change the world. Perhaps the

OECS Commission takes bold step to empower Youth and tackle crime

OECS Media Release

Wednesday, March 8, 2023 - The Member States of the Organisation of Eastern Caribbean States (OECS) have long been plagued by high rates of violent crime, disproportionately affecting young people between the ages of 15 and 29. The OECS Commission, in partnership with the United States Agency for International Development (USAID), continues to take bold steps targeted at reducing crime and empowering young people through its latest project, Opportunities to Advance and Support Youth for Success (OASYS).

With a planned budget of USD $5,340,223.00, OASYS will run from October 2022 to October 2026, and will focus on three expected outcomes: diverting children and youth from the formal Court systems, empowering children and youth in conflict with the law through opportunities that support rehabilitation and prepare them for a successful future, and successfully reintegrating youth into their families and communities. The participating Member States are Antigua and Barbuda, Dominica, Grenada, Saint Kitts and Nevis, Saint Lucia and St. Vincent and the Grenadines.

The OECS Commission has already made progress towards reducing crime and violence in the region through its Juvenile Justice Reform Project, which resulted in child justice legislation being passed in five out of the six participating Member States, and over 500 children being diverted and supported through capacity building and the creation of mechanisms for the implementation of Child Justice Legislation. However, some gaps still remained, including issues around data, sustainability, communications, and child and youth-friendly Courts. The intention of the Grant Agreement between the OECS Commission and USAID for implementation of OASYS, is a bridging of the gaps while simultaneously creating more opportunities for the rehabilitative landscape for Youth Justice.

During the project launch, the OECS Commission stated that OASYS is aligned with the seven strategic pillars of the OECS Youth Empowerment Strategy (OECS YES), namely, Child and Youth Protection, Education and Training, Employment and Entrepreneurship, Creativity and Culture, Healthy Lifestyles and Sports, Environment and Sustainable Development, and Citizenship and Identity.

It is noteworthy that OASYS is part of the wider USAID Caribbean Basin Security Initiative (CBSI), which seeks to build Caribbean partners' capacity to disrupt illicit trafficking and transnational crime, advancing Caribbean and U.S. citizen security. The other projects under the CBSI initiative that directly benefit OECS Member States include Youth Resilience to Crime and Violence (Y-RIE) and CariSECURE 2.0.

The OECS Commission and USAID are taking a critical step towards reducing crime and violence in the region and empowering young people to reach their full potential. According to the Director General of the OECS Commission, Dr. Didacus Jules, "The launch of OASYS marks a critical next step in this journey, building on the work done during the JJRP to provide young people in conflict with the law with the support and opportunities they need to lead successful and fulfilling lives. We are grateful for the support of USAID and look forward to even more progress."

Taiwan ranked fourth in the 2023 Index of Economic Freedom released Feb. 28 by Washington-headquartered think tank The Heritage Foundation, achieving its best-ever score.

With a total of 80.7 out of 100, Taiwan finished second among 39 economies in the Asia-Pacific. It beat out South Korea, 73.7; Japan, 69.3; Malaysia, 67.3; Indonesia, 63.5; and China, 48.3.

Taiwan was classified as “free” along with three other nations: Singapore, Switzerland and Ireland, in that order.

According to the index, Taiwan improved in seven out of 12 benchmarks used to compile the rankings. The biggest gains were in fiscal health and government integrity, which rose seven points and 2.5 points year on year to 93.6 and 76.3, respectively.

According to the Cabinet-level National Development Council, the two outstanding performances can be attributed to the drop in the government debt-to-GDP ratio, which went from 33.7 percent in 2022 to 28.4 percent in 2023, as well as regulatory reforms such as amendments to the Act on Property-Declaration by Public Servants.

The report demonstrated the effectiveness of Taiwan’s ongoing efforts to strengthen its economic climate, the NDC said, adding that the government will continue promoting innovation, encouraging sustainable development and creating a better investment environment for enterprises from home and abroad.

First released in 1995, the annual index tracks economic freedom in 184 markets worldwide based on benchmarks spanning government size, open markets, regulatory efficiency and rule of law. (YCH-E)

Afghanistan blast: Taliban governor killed in his office

IMAGE SOURCE, TALIBAN

Governor Muzammil arrived in his office moments before the explosion, one survivor said

By Kelly Ng & Barbara Plett Usher

BBC News

The Taliban governor of Afghanistan’s northern Balkh province has been killed in an explosion in his office.

Mohammad Dawood Muzammil is the most senior official to be killed since the Taliban returned to power in 2021.

Violence has since decreased sharply, but prominent pro-Taliban figures and others have been killed in a string of attacks, many claimed by Islamic State.

Local police said the cause of the latest blast was unclear. There was no immediate claim of responsibility.

But Taliban spokesman Zabihullah Mujahid said on Twitter that the governor had been “martyred in an explosion by the enemies of Islam”. An investigation is under way, he added.

Muzammil is reported to have led the fight against Islamic State militants in his previous posting as governor of the eastern province of Nangarhar. He was moved to Balkh last October.

Balkh police spokesperson Mohammed Asif Waziri said the explosion occurred “around 9am... inside the second floor of the governor’s office”.

Police said at least one other person also died in the attack. A number of others are reported to have been injured.

“There was a bang. I fell on the ground,” Khairuddin, who was wounded in the blast, told AFP news agency. He said he had seen a friend lose a hand in the explosion.

The explosion occurred just after the governor arrived in his office, he said.

A day earlier provincial Taliban authorities claimed they had killed eight “rebels and kidnappers” in Mazar-e Sharif, the Balkh capital. They did not, however, specify which “rebel” group these individuals were allegedly affiliated to.

The Taliban were ousted as Afghanistan’s rulers in 2001 - the militant Islamist group swept back to power in August 2021 after US-led forces pulled out.

A string of deadly bomb blasts since then has mainly targeted mosques and minority communities, many claimed by the regional affiliate of the militant Islamic State (IS-K) group, who are bitter rivals of the Taliban.

Eastern Caribbean Green Entrepreneurship Initiative Opens Applications for Third Cohort of Incubator Program

Media Release courtesy GGGI

March 8, 2023 - The Eastern Caribbean Green Entrepreneurship Initiative (EC Greenpreneurs) is proud to announce the launch and call for applications for the third cohort of its Incubator program, aimed at supporting green entrepreneurs in the Eastern Caribbean region. Following the success of the first two cohorts in 2021 and 2022, the program once again seeks to help early-stage businesses with environmentally and socially sustainable business models to grow and scale their enterprises.

Through the program, the Global Green Growth Institute (GGGI), in partnership with the Organisation of the Eastern Caribbean States (OECS) Commission, provides 12 weeks of virtual training, mentorship, coaching, and networking opportunities to green entrepreneurs in six OECS countries (including Antigua & Barbuda, the Commonwealth of Dominica, Grenada, Saint Lucia, St. Kitts and Nevis, and St. Vincent and the Grenadines). The selected individuals and/or teams also have a chance to secure USD $10,000 in seed funding through a Business Plan Competition to further develop their potential and showcase innovative solutions to tackle climate change while enhancing sustainability in the region.

The Eastern Caribbean Greenpreneurs program is funded by the Qatar Fund for Development (QFFD) and branches off from GGGI's Global Greenpreneurs Program. This crucial regional program aims to foster the development of local green businesses and bring additional benefits of creating inclusive green jobs, improving sustainability, and helping the Eastern Caribbean countries achieve the global Sustainable Development (SDGs) and their national climate action goals.

"We are very excited to launch and receive applications for the third cohort of the Eastern Caribbean Greenpreneurs Incubator program and to welcome a new group of innovative and dedicated green entrepreneurs," said Dr. Kristin Deason, GGGI's Caribbean Representative. "This program has a proven track record of helping green startups overcome challenges, develop their business models, and increase their growth potential. We look forward to seeing the continued positive impact that these businesses will have on our environment and the economy in the region".

In the first and second round of the program, 36 teams benefitted from weekly mentoring sessions, networking events and virtual training webinars which enabled their ideas to scale and grow. Nine teams so far have been awarded USD $10,000 each in seed grants after their successful completion of the Business Plan Competition to further boost their progress. (see bit.ly/ecgreenpreneurs)

"The program helped our business really network and see what other people across the Caribbean are doing. It's good to see other blue/green entrepreneurs, people doing things with great impact, and it has been such a pleasure to be part of this program," commented Lavern King from Grenadines Gold, a company providing authentic island experiences and eco-friendly products that are made from ethically grown sea moss in St. Vincent, and the Grenadines, and a participant in the second cohort of the Incubator program. (see www.grenadinesgold.com)

The application period for the third cohort of the EC Greenpreneurs Incubator program is NOW OPEN and will close on April 9th, 2023. Interested green entrepreneurs can apply online at bit.ly/ApplyECIncubator.

Employment-related gender gaps greater than previously thought, ILO report finds (MEDIA)

©ILO
News | 06 March 2023

GENEVA (ILO News) - Gender imbalances in access to employment and working conditions are greater than previously thought and progress in reducing them has been disappointingly slow in the last two decades, according to a new ILO brief.

A new indicator developed by the ILO, the Jobs Gap, captures all persons without employment that are interested in finding a job. It paints a much bleaker picture of the situation of women in the world of work than the more commonly used unemployment rate. The new data shows that women still have a much harder time finding a job than men.

According to the brief, New data shine light on gender gaps in the labour market, 15 per cent of working-age women globally would like to work but do not have a job, compared with 10.5 per cent of men. This gender gap has remained almost unchanged for two decades (2005-2022). In contrast, the global unemployment rates for women and men are very similar, because the criteria used to define unemployment tends to disproportionately exclude women.

The jobs gap is particularly severe in developing countries where the proportion of women unable to find a job reaches 24.9 per cent in low-income countries. The corresponding rate for men in the same category is 16.6 per cent, a worryingly high level but significantly lower than that for women.

The brief points out that personal and family responsibilities, including unpaid care work, disproportionately affect women. These activities can prevent them not only from being employed but also from actively searching for employment or being available to work at short notice. It is necessary to meet these criteria to be considered unemployed, so many women in need of a job aren't reflected in the unemployment figures.

Gender imbalances in decent work are not limited to access to employment. While vulnerable employment is widespread for both women and men, women tend to be overrepresented in certain types of vulnerable jobs. For instance, women are more likely to be helping out in their households or in their relatives' businesses rather than being in own-account work.

This vulnerability, together with lower employment rates, takes a toll on women's earnings. Globally, for each dollar of labour income men earn, women earned only 51 cents.

There are significant differences between regions, the brief finds. In low and lower-middle income countries, the gender disparity in labour income is much worse, with women earning 33 cents and 29 cents on the dollar respectively. In high-income and upper-middle income countries, women's relative labour income reaches 58 and 56 cents respectively per dollar earned by men. This striking disparity in earnings is driven by both women's lower employment level, as well as their lower average earnings when they are employed. The new estimates shine light on the magnitude of gender disparities in labour markets, underscoring how important it is to improve women's overall participation in employment, to expand their access to employment across occupations, and to address the glaring gaps in job quality that women face.

Labour Minister Addresses Minimum Wage Increase, Salary Payment Complaints

By: Spokesman Newsroom

BASSETTERRE, St.Kitts (Thursday 9th March 2023)-Minister of Employment and Labour Marsha Henderson has publicly informed about an upcoming review for an increase of the minimum wage and that "the country would have more on that in a short time."

She made the disclosure during her presentation at the sitting of National Assembly held on Tuesday 7th March 2023, while giving updates on that ministry.

Notably, the minimum wage is currently $380 per week.

The Labour Minister revealed that the Policy and Labour Relations Unit is working on the overall strategic plan, noting the minimum wage policy is one two significant policies that are being considered to bring before the cabinet.

"The last administration would have put together a minimum wage advisory committee in 2018. They would have submitted a report to the government in 2019. Now, what is interesting just to put things into context, the last time the minimum wage increased was in 2014... under a Labour-led Administration and I can report that the next time, notwithstanding a report being made available in 2019, the next time that the minimum would be increased would be under this labour-led administration," Henderson remarked.

The Labour Minister added: "We have the report, and the report did make some recommendations as to what needed to be done-some suggestions. We met as a Cabinet and we have put together the committee that is going to embark on the work that is coming out of that same report that was made available since 2019. We've had two elections since the-2020 and 2022 but I am happy to report that we are serious about labour and labour relations as a government, and the country would have more on that in a short time."

Henderson said labour and labour-related matter are not being ignored.

"As it relates to labour and labour related matters Madame Speaker, I want to indicate that these are not being ignored by this government. In fact the ministry just concluded some strategic meetings in terms of firming up our strategic mandate as it relates to labour and employment."

A four day work week which came out of COVID is the second policy of the Policy and Labour Relations Unit up for discussions.

Meanwhile, on another money payment topic, the Labour Minister-without calling the name of the particular employer, addressed an issue that was handled by her ministry on the topic of non-payment of salaries having received complaints.

She said "a number of complaints are coming to the Department of Labour and in particular without referring to anyone, a group of employees- say in excess of fifty (50) persons- have come in from one employer and we launched an investigation; in fact there is some mediation between the employer and

Samuel Badree named Assistant Coach for West Indies white ball tour of South Africa

ST JOHN'S, Antigua - Samuel Badree has been named as an Assistant Coach of the West Indies senior Men's team for the upcoming six-match white ball series against South Africa. Cricket West Indies (CWI) today announced that the former West Indies leg-spinner will join the squad for the three One-Day Internationals (ODI) and three T20 Internationals (T20I) from 16 to 28 March.

Badree said: "I'm absolutely thrilled to be asked by CWI to join the team and work with this great group of players in South Africa for the white ball leg of the tour." Badree, who has previously assisted CWI as a spin bowling consultant and worked in the IPL, believes this opportunity to be "a continuation and an extension of that".

He added: "I look forward to catching up with the players, some who I played with and most I already know, as we seek to acquit ourselves well on what is expected to be a challenging tour of South Africa. I also look forward to sharing my knowledge and experiences with the players as we look to bring some positive results to our loyal fans."

Jimmy Adams, CWI's Director of Cricket said: "I'm happy that Samuel is going to be spending time with our white ball teams in South Africa. He brings plenty of international experience and a strong desire to assist our slow bowlers in becoming world class. We believe this combination makes him ideally placed to add tremendous value to our support staff in South Africa, and specifically for our slow bowlers."

Badree is a two-time T20 World Cup winner. He played a vital role in both T20 World Cup winning campaigns in Sri Lanka in 2012 and in India in 2016. He played 52 T20Is and picked up 56 wickets between 2012 and 2018 - during which time he was the world's Number 1 ranked bowler in the T20 format.

West Indies are presently in South Africa playing in a two-match Test Series ahead of the white ball Series. The first Test at SuperSports Park in Centurion ended last Thursday. The Proteas

Corinne Diacre: France manager sacked just four months before 2023 World Cup

By Emma Smith

From the section Women's Football

France captain Wendie Renard said she would not play for her country to preserve her "mental health"

Corinne Diacre has been sacked as manager of the French national team four months before the World Cup.

Diacre, 48, departs after several key players, including captain Wendie Renard, said they would no longer represent their country.

Renard released a statement criticising the French "system" and was joined by team-mates Marie-Antoinette Katoto and Kadidiatou Diani in a boycott.

The FFF announced Diacre's exit and said the situation was "irreversible".

On Wednesday, Diacre had vowed to carry on and denounced what she described as a "smear campaign" against her.

"I'm determined to carry out my mission and, above all, to do France proud at the next World Cup," she said.

In their statement, the FFF said a four-person committee had been commissioned to examine the running of the national women's team following criticism from Renard and her team-mates.

They said the committee had "established the observation of a very significant divide between players" and added the fracture had "reached a point of no return which harms the interests of the team".

"It appears that the dysfunctions observed seem, in this context, irreversible," the statement reads.

"In view of these elements, it was decided to put an end to the role of Corinne Diacre at the head of the French women's team."

The commission will also be tasked with selecting a new head coach for France ahead of the 2023 Women's World Cup, which begins in Australia and New Zealand on 20 July.

France are in Group F alongside Brazil, Jamaica and Panama.

The FFF statement also criticises Renard and the players for airing their discontent with Diacre on social media and announcing their boycott of the international team through their personal accounts.

"The committee also noted that the way used by the players to express their criticisms was no longer acceptable in the future," the statement reads.

Renard, who has made 142 appearances for France, said on social media that she was taking a step back from the team "to preserve my mental health".

Team-mates Diani and Katoto later announced they would no longer play for France. Diani said the "management" of the team was a reason behind the decision.

Under Diacre, France have not reached a major final and lost to Germany in the Euro 2022 semi-finals.

Bangladesh v England: Tigers secure comfortable six-wicket win in first T20

Najmul Hossain Shanto set up Bangladesh's chase with 51 from 30 balls

1st T20, Bangladesh v England: Chattogram

England 156-6 (20 overs): Buttler 67 (42); Mahmud 2-26

Bangladesh 158-4 (18 overs): Shanto 51 (30); Wood 1-24

Bangladesh won by six wickets

Bangladesh beat world champions England comfortably by six wickets in the first T20 international in Chattogram.

Opener Najmul Hossain Shanto struck an impressive 51 from 30 balls as the Tigers reached their target of 157 with two overs to spare.

Shanto added 65 for the third wicket with debutant Towhid Hridoy, who made 24, as the hosts adapted better to a slow, sluggish pitch.

The second of three T20s takes place on Sunday in Mirpur.

It is Bangladesh's first win over England in a T20, though it is only the second time the teams have met in the format.

England were on course for a huge total as captain Jos Buttler and Phil Salt raced to 80 after 10 overs, but Bangladesh's seamers fought back at the end, conceding just 21 runs from the final four overs to restrict England to 156-6.

Buttler made a dynamic 67 from 42 balls after being dropped by Shakib Al Hasan on 19, but when he and Ben Duckett fell in consecutive balls, England struggled to make the most of their aggressive start.

Seamer Hasan Mahmud led the attack with 2-26 from his four overs, including the key scalp of Buttler.

In reply, Bangladesh also made the most of the six-over powerplay to attack England's seamers, reaching 54-2.

England's seamers struggled to adapt to the slow pitch and Shanto capitalised, striking four consecutive boundaries from Mark Wood's first over.

Captain Shakib then calmly used his experience to steer his side to victory and finish unbeaten on 34.

The opening 10 overs of England's innings were typical of the white-ball side's approach: capitalise on the powerplay, take the attacking option first, and put the bowlers under pressure.

Buttler and Salt were cruising and the tourists looked set for a competitive score of more than 170, with Bangladesh's body language showing signs of despondency after Shakib dropped a simple chance and the England captain sought to make the most of it.

But their seamers held their nerve and mixed up their pace brilliantly at the end to deceive England, who lost four wickets for 11 runs in 20 balls.

England struggled to adapt against the slower bowling, continuing with their trademark aggression and paying for it. Buttler, Dawid Malan and Sam Curran were all caught on the boundary as the pressure built.

Bangladesh's chase then followed a similar trend as set batters Shanto and Hridoy fell in quick succession. But England's bowlers were unable to adapt quickly enough as the batters looked more comfortable against the pace-heavy attack.

Their side looked bowler-heavy with five seamers and two spinners, which proved ineffective as Bangladesh paced the chase perfectly.

says Spanish football journalist Guillem Balague.

The 35-year-old Argentina forward is out of contract this summer but is determined to continue in elite European football and is in talks to extend his stay in Paris for another year.

The Barcelona legend has scored 29 goals in 64 games for PSG since leaving the Nou Camp two summers ago and believes he can still compete for the top honours, ruling out the possibility of a return to boyhood club Newell's Old Boys.

Messi was part of the PSG side who were knocked out of the Champions League last 16 by Bayern Munich on Wednesday night, and the World Cup winner wants another realistic chance to win it for the fifth time next season.

PSG out of Champions League: Time to rip up project?

Jorge Messi, Lionel's father and agent, and PSG director Luis Campos have an agreement in principle, says Balague, and talks are continuing.

"At the moment, we are in discussion," confirmed Campos. "I would like to keep him in this project, I can't hide it. I would be delighted if he continued. We are discussing at the moment to try to reach the goal and continue to have him with us."

Balague also believes PSG's budget could be limited next season to comply with Financial Fair Play rules - putting the quality of their squad at risk.

But Campos is confident any challenges can be met. He told Le Parisien: "We tried to be creative with the financial constraints. We need to be respectful of Uefa and Fifa. But we are ready."

"We have made a good plan, which involves reducing the number of professional players in the squad to make room for the youngsters of the club of high quality and not to lose them to other great European clubs."

Balague added: "The agreement in principle for Messi now has to be confirmed in writing and in details - wages, length of contract. He is listening and would continue if conditions are right."

"As usual, I imagine there will be demands, above all one in particular - that PSG continue being a competitive team."

"Things that could affect that are if Kylian Mbappe goes, if Qatar stops being interested in the club, if financial limits force PSG to sell players or if PSG are unable to meet the financial minimum to keep Messi."

Messi is favourite to win the Ballon d'Or, which will be handed out in October, after winning the World Cup with Argentina in December. He has scored 18 goals in 30 games for PSG this season. In 36 games for club and country this season, Messi has scored 30 goals and assisted 20.

That would be his eighth Ballon d'Or - three more than anybody else - and that is one of his considerations, says Balague.

He is likely to win his second Ligue 1 title with the club - they are eight points clear of second-placed Marseille.

"It is totally impossible that he goes to Newell's Old Boys this summer, despite rumours," says Balague.

"He wants to continue in elite football. He has not thought of going to Newell's this summer and there has been no chance of that happening for next season."

"Messi's camp insist there is no official offer from Major League Soccer side Inter Miami yet, but Inter sources are confident they have put all their cards on the table for Messi and will wait for his decision."

Messi left Barcelona in 2021 because financial issues meant they could not afford to keep him.

He scored a record 672 goals in 778 games for Barca - the club he joined as a 13-year-old - and won 35 trophies with the club.

Balague said: "Barcelona president Joan Laporta met Jorge Messi recently, but only to discuss a possible homage in the future."

"There is no offer [from Barcelona] whatsoever on the table for him right now. Nobody expects a return to happen."

"La Liga would oppose the selling of another part of the club to fund any move for Messi anyway, with their priority to reduce Barcelona's 200m euro debt."

'We were 20 runs short' - reaction

Bangladesh captain Shakib Al Hasan: "The way we approached the game was fantastic. We were under the pump when bowling but didn't panic, and stuck to our plans. Apart from my dropped catch we did really well in the field."

"Hopefully we can build on this win in the next few games against England."

England captain Jos Buttler: "I thought they finished their innings well with the ball. We were probably 20 short from where we wanted to be. We didn't quite make enough runs and couldn't save that in the field."

"The pitch played as expected with low bounce but was consistent. The extra runs would have made it easier. Bangladesh took the game on and that put us under pressure."
