Judging Ambassador Behaviour

Most recently, hot topic discussions have been pointed at public debate over the behaviour of two ambassadors namely Ms. Nerys Dockery and Mr. Leon Natta Nelson.

Members of the public are divided on their views relating to the two separate scenarios; one occurring overseas in the case of Ms. Dockery and locally with Mr. Natta.

Now what is quite interesting is that without knowing full details of what has happened in the case of Ms. Dockery, some persons have labelled her behaviour - based on the street talk allegations- as being unprofessional and not becoming of someone who should be occupying the position she holds.

Many people have also been judging her response to her situation from her social media post on Facebook. Those posts, though deleted, screenshots were taken and circulated via social media in true fashion of the sense that nothing is ever really deleted from the internet. And so individuals discussing the topic still have those to refer to in arguing from whichever side of the fence their standing.

Once you take to public office, good and decent behaviour goes hand in hand with the expectations of the role. Being sworn into office is serious business and so one's code of conduct is automatically subjected to be talking point should there be instances of when behaviour displayed goes in contrary of what is expected of a public official.

On the subject of Mr. Natta Nelson, again even in this scenario, the debate has been quite interesting as some hold the view that in responding to the jewelry robbery of his eight-year-old son, he was not functioning as a public official or better yet an ambassador, but rather a parent.

Hence, parents and guardians - and other alike- lending their voice to the topic have no problem with how Mr. Natta Nelson handled the situation swear words included. In this regard, he has gotten high praise for going into daddy mode to protect his son.

On the flip side, there are some individuals who find his behaviour to be completely unacceptable for the position he holds. Some people are of the view that he is in a position whereby the local authorities were more than capable of addressing this situation deserving of a government official.

Now, this piece is not meant to put a vote towards who was right or wrong in any of these scenarios but rather to take a look at how important it is for everyone to completely understand that as a society, we must be ever so aware of how we are conducting ourselves in our personal lives not just be quick to criticise public figures.

It is so easier for people to point fingers at those in public office when in reality as a people we must devote time and attention in ensuring that we all do our very best to be productive and civic-minded individuals.

We are all ambassadors of our lives irrespective of socio-economic status. With that said, a challenge is hereby issued to us a people to exhibit the type of that behaviour that fosters a positive spotlight in our families, communities and nation as a whole.

Pregnancy Loss Author To Host Comforting Session

By: Spokesman Newsroom

BASSETTERRE, St.Kitts (Tuesday 10th October 2023)- Dubbed the 'Safe Circle Session', well-known local author of 'Lifting the Weight of Miscarriage' Jihan Williams-Knight has informed about an upcoming event being put on in observance of Pregnancy and Infant Loss Awareness month, slated to take place on Sunday 15th October 2023 at the Solid Waste Management Corporation (SWMC) conference room, starting at 7:00 PM.

She made the disclosure while speaking on Freedom FM's 'Issues' Programme on Tuesday 10th October 2023 while promoting the "October is a lot of things Breast cancer Month, Mental Health Awareness month but right in the middle of all of that is pregnancy and infant loss Awareness Month.

"On the 15th is the actual day when the events are held in honour of person who have been through the experience of pregnancy loss and to recognize and acknowledge the babies that have been lost as well. So, I know from statistics we assume that there is a lot more women-far more common than we would want to acknowledge who go through pregnancy loss and so I thought that it was about time that we had an event where we could recognize those people and try to find out how people can be supported, what do people need, if persons feel like they have nobody to talk to we introduce them to resources where they can get that level of help if they've been through that experience," She stated.

In relation to the target audience, she expressed: "We are very very clear about this-women and men. So even if a man wants to come on his own, he's welcomed to come as well."

Williams-Knight said she wants people to feel comfortable at the Safe Circle Session.

"I want people to come comfortable... literally dress comfortably, walk with your yoga mat and blanket if you feel more comfortable lying down on the ground or sitting down on the ground; if that's what you're into, we leave space for that. We're going to talk about the experience. What it feels like, what do we wish people had known, what kind of support we think that we needed for people in our circumstance, and of course there will also be a presentation Mrs. Michelle Delacoudray-Blake from the National Counseling Center to offer profession guidance on how to cope with grief."

According to her, at 7:00PM at the event, we're going to participate in the International Wave of Light.

"It literally is a commitment for persons who have been through pregnancy loss to simply light a candle in honour of the babies that they've lost. We will also give persons the opportunity to say their baby's name out loud which might be seen as something significant but when people have been telling you to move on... You weren't pregnant for that long - people diminish the experience but it's a baby to you and mayb you had already named the baby and everything so we give you the opportunity to speak that baby's name out loud... '

As understood, candle will be kept lit for an hour and continue with the sharing and supporting session.

UK hits back at criticism from World Bank over aid cuts

Published BBC
BUSINESS

By Faisal Islam
Economics editor

Development minister Andrew Mitchell has hit back at criticism over aid cuts for the world's poorest, saying the UK was still a "very dominant force".

Mr Mitchell said that the UK was the third-biggest donor to the World Bank's fund for the poorest countries in the world.

The anti-poverty institution had accused the UK of causing "real pain" with recent cuts to foreign aid.

But Mr Mitchell acknowledged cuts may have come at the worst possible time.

The UK halved payments sent to the World Bank's International Development Association fund. It now sends £500m a year.

The government said it was a temporary cut until Britain's public finances were back in shape.

The Bank is hoping that the UK will be "back at higher levels" of funding soon.

Speaking to the BBC, Axel van Trotsenburg, senior managing director at the World Bank, explained how every dollar counts. He said, "Every dollar that we get saved lives. The way I look at this fund is how you actually save lives, so this caused real pain."

Mr van Trotsenburg, the second-in-command at the Bank, also said that donor contributions had been largely "flat".

The World Bank is under pressure to raise finances for a new crisis response fund, aimed at helping countries respond to higher poverty levels as a result of higher food prices.

Mr van Trotsenburg added: "We want to build on it. And we want the UK back at higher levels."

Three years of crisis have abruptly ended decades of progress in reducing global poverty.

Absolute poverty, where people live on less than $2 (£1.63) a day, affects nearly 100 million more people now than before the pandemic.

Against this backdrop the World Bank says it needs more funds to deal with crisis-afflicted poorer nations as soon as this December.

But as more funds get diverted into refugee spending other aid flows are impacted. Money going to sub-Saharan Africa, for example, are down more than 7% in real terms.

CDB Provides USD50,000 to Help Fund 7th Biennial Law Conference of Caribbean Court of Justice Academy for Law

October 12, 2023 - BRIDGETOWN, Barbados:

Fifty law students from the region will participate in the upcoming 7th Biennial Law Conference of the Caribbean Court of Justice (CCJ) Academy for Law as a result of a USD 50,000 grant provided by the Caribbean Development Bank (CDB) for the staging of the event scheduled for October 18-20, 2023, at the Hilton Hotel in Barbados.

The CDB funding will go toward covering the cost of registration, and participation for the students who are currently pursuing legal studies at The University of the West Indies, Cave Hill, and the Barbados Community College's Faculties of Law and Social Sciences. The Bank's contribution will also underwrite the cost of facilitators for the Conference, and a hybrid (in-person and virtual) Town Hall meeting to be held on October 18 at the Hilton Hotel.

The CCJ Academy for Law's Biennial Law Conference offers thought-leaders in the legal profession a platform to present their ideas to attorneys, law and sociology students, and civil society on various themes concerning the reform and modernisation of Caribbean legal systems and the wider society.

The Conference is intended to conduct a close interrogation of the criminal justice system and propose concrete and implementable solutions based upon discussions inter alia, around the Impact on the Victims of Crime; the Accused and Criminal Justice; Crime and Socio-economic Development and Sentencing.

The CDB will also make two presentations at the Conference. Elbert Ellis, Senior Operations Officer, Social Analyst in the Projects Department will make a presentation on Crime and Socioeconomic Development. Amilcar Sanatan, Adviser to CDB Future Leaders Network (FLN) will make a presentation on Intersectionality, Crime and Criminal Justice.

Martin Baptiste, Division Chief, Social Sector Division at the CDB, noted that a multifaceted approach to criminal justice reform is imperative.

"Criminal justice reform is a critical component of citizen security and as such, must take account of the multifaceted and intersectional nature and causes of crime and violence and their impact on the region's sustainable development," said Mr. Baptiste.

Honourable Justice Winston Anderson, Judge of the Caribbean Court of Justice, Chairman of the CCJ Academy for Law, noted that normalising serious crimes in the region had led to stunted economic growth that needs to be addressed.

"There is an alarming pandemic of serious crimes in the region. In accepting this state of affairs, we have normalised the intolerable and stunted economic development. If the Caribbean is to truly achieve sustainable economic and social development, then the issue of crime and criminality in the region cannot be tolerated and must be addressed. This can only be done using a multi-pronged approach, one such approach being the reform of the criminal justice system," Justice Anderson said.

The CDB previously supported the CCJ's capacity development as part of a governance and institutional development programme.

Cricket World Cup 2023: Australia suffer heaviest World Cup defeat in South Africa trouncing

By Callum Matthews
BBC Sport
From the section Cricket

ICC Men's Cricket World Cup, Lucknow

South Africa 311-7 (50 overs): De Kock 109 (106), Markram 56 (44);
Maxwell 2-34

Australia 177 (40.5 overs): Labuschagne 46 (74); Rabada 3-33

South Africa won by 134 runs

Australia suffered their heaviest World Cup defeat as they were trounced by South Africa in Lucknow.

They were set 312 to win but a miserable batting display saw them bowled out for 177 in 40.5 overs to lose by 134 runs.

It means they have lost their opening two games and four consecutive World Cup matches for the first time.

South Africa posted 311-7, with Quinton de Kock hitting 109 for his second century of the tournament.

He joins compatriot AB de Villiers as the only batter to start a Men's World Cup with consecutive hundreds.

There was a controversial decision to give Marcus Stoinis out after South Africa called for a review, which left Australia 70-6 in their chase.

Third umpire Richard Kettleborough deemed the right-hander had gloved Kagiso Rabada down the leg side, but replays suggested Stoinis' hand was off the bat when the ball grazed that glove.

Kettleborough's explanation was both Stoinis' gloves were touching, but that did not appear to be the case on the pictures shown.

Australia's next game is against Sri Lanka on Monday, while South Africa play the Netherlands on Tuesday.

Friday's World Cup action sees New Zealand, who have won their first two games, face Bangladesh in Chennai.

Confusion reigns but South Africa impress with ball

Australia went into their innings with some momentum after Mitchell Starc finished with a double-wicket maiden, but it was soon lost.

It was a turgid start from Mitchell Marsh and David Warner, with both struggling for any fluency.

Marsh was the first to go, miscuing Marco Jansen to mid-off, before Warner flashed Lungi Ngidi, who bowled with excellent control up front, to point.

There was confusion when Steve Smith was given out lbw on review despite the front-on replay suggesting the ball may have gone on to miss leg stump.

The technology initially just showed the end result of the HawkEye process, leading to bewilderment from Smith and his partner Marnus Labuschagne, before it was later replayed in full to show its accuracy.

Josh Inglis and Glenn Maxwell soon followed Smith, before Stoinis' controversial dismissal.

When asked about the decision after the game, Australia batter Marnus Labuschagne said: "It looked like there was clear daylight between the two gloves and the handle.

"But I have been into the third umpire's room and the screens are pretty big and much clearer than me looking at a pixelated screen.

"I'm sure we'll get clarity or will seek clarity because it's a World Cup and we don't want small decisions that can be avoided to affect the outcome of the games. With the position we were in, it's hard to say it affected the outcome, but for the future."

Labuschagne made 46, and showed some resistance in a stand of 69 with Starc, but the margin of defeat overtakes their 118-run loss against India in 1983.

It leaves Australia's campaign in trouble. This is the second World Cup to follow this format and the final qualification spot in 2019 was taken by New Zealand on

11 points. Bad weather played a part in that campaign, but is unlikely to this time, meaning sides may need 12 points to qualify for the semi-finals. Australia would need to win six of their remaining seven games to reach that mark.

De Kock punishes flat Australia

This was another clinical display from South Africa, five days on from blistering their way to a World Cup record total in their opening-game win over Sri Lanka. Temba Bavuma's side came into the tournament under the radar but have been one of the standout sides in the opening two rounds of games. Their innings was superbly led by De Kock, who cut and drove at will, as he raced to his 19th one-day international ton off 90 balls with a towering pull shot for six. He was ably supported by Aiden Markram, who capitalised on being dropped on one by Pat Cummins in his follow-through to make 56. That Cummins drop was one of five by Australia, including one by wicketkeeper Inglis, who came into the side for Alex Carey, as they were surprisingly subdued and flat. Maxwell was the pick of the bowlers, taking 2-34 from 10 overs, and although Australia improved with the ball as the innings progressed - South Africa were 171-2 after 30 overs and added just 140 in the final 20 - two of those drops came in the penultimate over.

It is a sign of South Africa's batting ability and power that it felt like they left plenty of runs out there, which is an ominous sign for the other sides in the tournament.

'We were well off the mark' - reaction

Australia captain Pat Cummins: "Quinton de Kock batted really well, we couldn't get a breakthrough but from where they were, we were quite happy and thought 312 was chaseable.

"It looked like hard work to bat out there at night and it zipped around more than it did in the day, their bowlers bowled really well, but we were well off the mark.

South Africa captain Temba Bavuma: "If I was to be really greedy, we could have been stronger towards the end with the bat but we bowled really well."

Player of the match, South Africa's Quinton de Kock: "It was a great win for the boys.

"We are pretty pleased with ourselves but we're only two games in and anything can happen. World Cups are strange and things can change quickly."

NIA CHARLESTOWN NEVIS (October 11, 2023)- The Honourable Troy Liburd, Minister of Education and Sports in the Nevis Island Administration, has expressed his gratitude to Brooklyn Nets center Nicolas Claxton for a substantial donation to students on the island of Nevis.

The NBA starter, through the Nicolas Claxton Foundation, donated over 40 pairs of Nike sneakers to students who attended a basketball clinic he hosted on the island during his visit in June of this year.

"For us here in Nevis we are very fortunate that Mr. Claxton, having Nevisian heritage, decided to come back to his roots and come back in a big way," Minister Liburd said during a ceremony on October 10 to distribute the sneakers.

"Through his foundation he was able to come and spend a few days of his off season here. On June 27 he held a basketball clinic and based on his observation Mr. Claxton said he wanted to assist some of the young people and here we are today.

"We want to extend our heartfelt gratitude to Nicolas Claxton and the Nicholas Claxton Foundation, and to his dad Charles Claxton who has facilitated much of what has happened throughout."

Seven squads announced as teams prepare for showtime in CG United Super50 Cup

Combined Campuses & Colleges squad to be named following ongoing camp in Trinidad

ST. JOHN’S, Antigua - Cricket West Indies (CWI) today confirmed the squads for seven of the eight teams that will compete in the CG United Super50 Cup. The Combined Campuses & Colleges (CCC) squad will be named after their ongoing preparation and selection camp in Trinidad.

The 50-over tournament will officially bowl off in Trinidad on the morning of Tuesday 17 October with the opening match between home side Trinidad & Tobago Red Force and CCC at the Queen’s Park Oval (QPO) at 9am (8am Jamaica). Also on Tuesday, the Guyana Harpy Eagles will face the Windward Islands Volcanoes at the Brian Lara Cricket Academy (BLCA) in the first televised match at 1pm (12 noon Jamaica).

The Tournament will feature 31 matches to be played at three venues: the BLCA, the QPO and the Sir Frank Worrell Cricket Grounds of the University of the West Indies Sport and Physical Education Centre (UWI SPEC) at the St. Augustine Campus.

Additionally, there has been a change to the match schedule. On 4 November the fixture between CCC and Leeward Islands Hurricanes has been moved from the QPO to UWI SPEC at 9am (8am Jamaica).

The captains of the squads named are: Shai Hope (Barbados Pride), Veerasammy Permaul (Guyana Harpy Eagles), Rovman Powell (Jamaica Scorpions), Alzarri Joseph (Leeward Islands Hurricanes), Darren Bravo (Trinidad & Tobago Red Force), Nyeem Young (West Indies Academy) and Andre Fletcher (Windward Islands Volcanoes).

Johnny Grave, CWI’s CEO said: “The countdown is on to the first ball of this year’s CG United Super50 Cup and we are delighted to announce all but one of the squads for the tournament. The teams have all had an intense period of preparation and we know this will lead to an action-packed and entertaining tournament for our fans - from the first ball on Tuesday to the last ball on the night of 11 November.”

Grave added: “As we look towards the future in West Indies cricket, we are again pleased to have our West Indies Academy players participate in this year’s edition, which will provide them with strong, quality competition along their pathway to hopefully future international cricket. We wish all the teams the best in their quest to glory and being crowned the champions of the CG United Super50 Cup in 2023.”

This year, the region’s premier List A 50-over tournament will run until Saturday 11 November with a new eight-team league format followed by Semi-Finals and Finals to determine the 2023 CG United Super50 Cup Champions. All 13 matches at the BLCA, including the Semi-Finals and Final, will be televised live on ESPN Caribbean, with 12 of those matches being day/night games.
