The Dark Side of Guy Fawkes Celebrations Calls for

Urgent Action

What a truly horrific incident we witnessed this week. Two teenage boys, aged 16 and 19, were severely injured in an accident involving explosives associated with Guy Fawkes celebrations.

One of the boys now faces the possibility of partial vision loss in one eye and another has sustained a severe injury to one of his hands, reportedly losing two fingers.

No doubt this tragedy highlights the dangers of these explosives and has reignited urgent conversations about banning or, at the very least, policing these items.

The scenes from this accident, as well as video footage circulating on social media, show the shocking risks some youth are taking. In one instance, young people are seen assembling four cans of flammable pesticide aerosol into a single massive explosive device—an unimaginably dangerous experiment. These actions point to a stark reality: the reckless use of fireworks is a growing and uncontrolled hazard that we must confront.

The elders in our community often recall simpler, safer times when Guy Fawkes celebrations were supervised and involved minimal risk. They remember when “starlights” and other small-scale fireworks were enjoyed safely in open spaces, such as pastures, with a

Police Investigates Incident Resulting in Injuries to Two Individuals

BASSETTERRE, St. Kitts
- 4th November 2024. The Royal St. Christopher and Nevis Police Force (RSCNPF) is currently investigating an incident that took place at Fort Thomas Road, Mc Knight, and resulted in serious injuries to two male individuals, ages nineteen (19) and sixteen (16), from St. Johnson Village and Cunningham Street, McKnight, respectively.

The incident was reported to the Criminal Investigations Department at approximately 12:59 p.m. on Nov 4. Officers responded at the Joseph N. France General Hospital's Accident and Emergency (A&E) Department, where the individuals were receiving medical care.

Upon arrival, officers observed that both individuals were receiving treatment for injuries sustained in what appeared to be an accidental explosion.

One individual underwent surgery for a serious hand injury, while the other sustained injuries to both hands and face. Medical staff also reported that one of the individuals may have lost partial vision in one eye due to the severity of the incident.

The Royal St. Christopher and Nevis Police Force is watchful eye from parents and community members.

Today, we see a disturbing shift: in the heart of Basseterre over the last weekend, teenage boys were observed over the weekend chasing one another, brandishing Roman candles and treating them as pretend guns. This recklessness endangers not only the participants but also bystanders who may be caught in the crossfire of these makeshift, pyrotechnic “toys.” While childhood is a time of enjoyment and exploration, such activities pose an undeniable risk of life-altering injury.

This incident exposes the alarming reality that children often lack a full understanding of the potential hazards associated with these behaviors. It is crucial for parents and guardians to provide careful supervision, and yet, as any parent knows, even the most vigilant cannot be everywhere at once. This is why a collective sense of responsibility is needed in our community. We must work together to guide our youth and help prevent tragic outcomes.

As the debate over banning or regulating the import of fireworks and explosive devices intensifies, we urge authorities and policymakers to take a decisive stance. If these items cannot be managed safely, then their availability must be reconsidered for the well-being of our community.

Let us strive to make our communities safer places, where children's joy is not marred by the threat of injury and families do not have to endure such traumatic experiences.

This is a call to action now before another horrific accident makes us regret that we did not respond sooner.

Workers Union and Carib Brewery Sign New Agreement

By: Spokesman Newsroom

BASSETTERRE, St. Kitts (Wednesday, 6th November 2024) - After a period of delays which included post COVID-19 pandemic-related challenges, the St. Kitts-Nevis Trades & Labour Union (SKNT&L U) and Carib Brewery (St. Kitts-Nevis) Ltd. have finalized a renewed four-year Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA), covering 2023 to 2026.

The signing ceremony was held on Friday, 25th October 2024 at Carib Brewery's compound (board room section) located at Buckley's Site, representing a renewed commitment to collaboration between both parties, with a focus on maintaining fair work conditions and a productive relationship following discussions at the negotiation table, as customary over the years.

Due to the delay, management is currently preparing retroactive wage payments for workers, with the union actively monitoring to ensure timely and accurate disbursement.

The agreement, containing thirty (30) articles, covers critical areas such as Union Security, Management Rights, Hours of Work, Disciplinary Procedures, Maternity Leave, Grievance Procedure and Settlement of Disputes, Safety and Health, Wages, Injury Benefits, Protective Clothing and also Severance Pay.

Affixing their signatures to the document were SKNT&LU representatives President Sydney Bridgewater, General Secretary Precious Mills, Field Officer (and union executive committee member) Sean Kelly, and Union Shop Steward and Carib Brewery employee Alfred 'Joash' Liburd.

Signing for Carib Brewery were Managing Director Mark Wilkin and Human Resource Officer Kamie Francois while Acting Labour Commissioner Jeneve Mills signed on behalf of the Department of Labour.

Wilkin reflected on the process, acknowledging the working relationship between the union and the beverage sector business of the ANSA McAL group of Trinidad and Tobago which is one of the larger Caribbean companies.

"We are always committed to this process and to ensuring you know that we meet. We may disagree on certain items but we would always strive to reach common ground that's good for the workers and for the company."

He expressed optimism about continued partnership with the union, noting, "We know this [signing ceremony] is a little late; we went into 2024 but we look forward to working closely with the team for the balance of the agreement, and look forward to signing of the next one."

He also pointed to the mutual commitment made by both parties to a timely renewal process, to initiate negotiations "three months before the end of the agreement."

Union President Bridgewater took a firm stance on the role of the union in safeguarding worker rights, especially in an era where some companies might attempt to bypass union representation.

"We have to be careful with companies because companies want to make negotiations... a thing of the past," Bridgewater stated. "They want to feel... they can go straight to the workers, talk with them, do the bargaining thing... sidestepping the union."

He reminded workers of the importance of staying united through collective action, noting, "Workers have to understand, salvation is to get together, join together. They've got to be thinking about collective bargaining agreements, and they must get the union negotiators involved. That's a must."

Bridgewater also praised the longstanding relationship with Carib Brewery, describing it as "one of our oldest, longstanding [partnerships]."

"We must look after our members and the workers because if somebody didn't speak for them, who would," he commented in speaking about the role of the Union.

Acting Labour Commissioner Mills talked about the importance of unions in ensuring that workers' rights are respected.

"It seems as if, based on listening to [Union President Bridgewater], some persons are thinking these collective bargaining [agreements] need to be outdated," he said. "Now more than ever, we need to go back down this road [of having such agreements] and encourage persons to become part of unions," he continued, noting that these agreements represent "the maturity of business relations" and reflect "and the fact that the employer understands that there are some rights and responsibilities owed to the employee."

Mills further pointed to the significance of having a forum to discuss issues affecting workers and management alike.

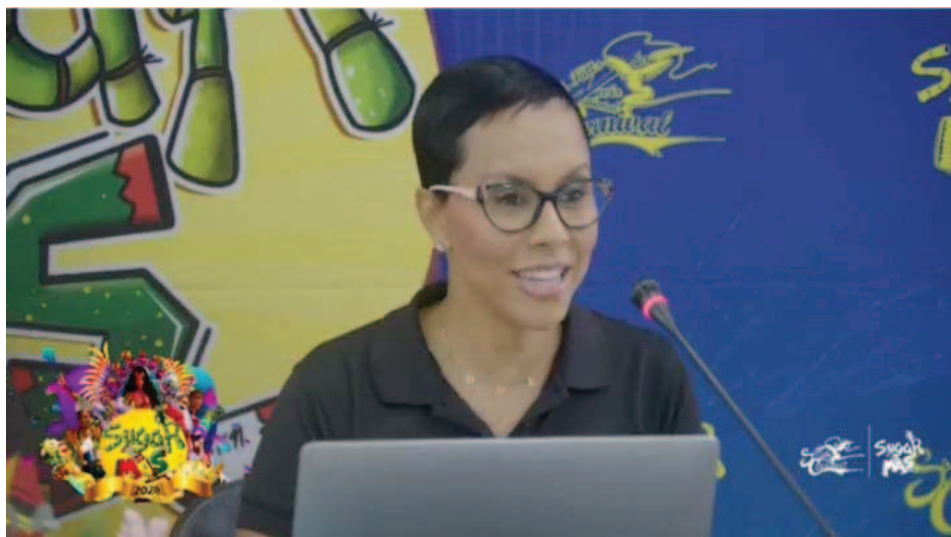

"That's what collective bargaining is about-issues we can meet at the table and discuss, finding what is best for the entity and for the persons who drive the economy of that entity," he stated.

Union General Secretary Precious Mills, shared with this media house, the importance of worker involvement in the collective bargaining process saying: "A key aspect of such a bargaining document is the involvement of the workers themselves discussing the various articles, and no doubt workers do recognize that a document like this is aimed at their betterment."

She also paid tribute to the late General Secretary Batumba Tak, who was involved in the prior agreement negotiations before his passing in 2019.

Mills noted that his contribution was noted during the course of negotiation and related discussions

Carnival Chairperson: Road March In Style With Prize Monies up For Grabs

By: Spokesman Newsroom

BASSETTERRE, St.Kitts (Wednesday 6th November 2024) - Chairperson of the St.Kitts-Nevis National Carnival Committee Shannon Hawley has expressed that Road March is in style because of the prize monies being pumped into it for Sugar Mas 53.

"...we have $33,000 up for grabs for Road March, and I think that this is the most ever that has been in place for the Road March contenders. So to those who are saying Road March is out of style, we actually think it is actually in style because of the amount of money that we are pumping into our Road March."

Hawley said so during a live media update session aired on the official Facebook page on Wednesday 6th November 2024. As gathered there are twenty (20) songs registered for the Road March competition.

"Of course J'ouvert has always been the highlight of St. Kitts and Nevis Carnival Sugar Mas. We have always said that St.Kitts and Nevis J'ouvert in the world, and we will continue to maintain that position. pour road march is judged on J'ouvert only between the hours of 6 and 11 a.m. Our Road March this year is going to be judged a little differently to how it was judged in the past. In the past there were a series of performances and the Road March was based heavily on the performance of the Road March contenders. This year we have gone back to how it has been in the past where our judges are strategically positioned along the Road March route and once our judges hear a song being played by any of our Road March contenders, there will be a point for that song.

Hawley added: "We have simplified the process even further where we have included DJs from various registered J'ouvert troupes to take part in the Road March. We will have judges, identified and unidentified judges placed in a particular spot on the route for J'ouvert and that judge again will be able to take what song is played by the first DJ that passes the judging point for that particular J'ouvert troupe. So again, we are moving back into the simplified format of we hear a song, we tick it, which means that the most popular song on J'ouvert will end up winning the road march. In addition to that, we have increased the Road March winnings to $25,000 plus, we have added an additional $8,000 to the Road March contender who performs the best during J'ouvert. And we have a performance area in The Circus."

The Carnival Chairperson highlighted that there are 63 songs registered for Sugar Mas this time around, altogether for the Road March competition and the Soca Monarch competition.

"Soca Monarch is back and it's back with a bang... we have 43 songs registered for Soca Monarch. We have 10 contenders with 20 songs registered for the Road March competition, which means that we have 63 songs registered for our national carnival events that have all been released as of Friday the 1st of November. So, we have 63 songs that are released, that are playing on radio, that are getting their airplay. So nobody can say that they have not heard this song or that song or they didn't get an opportunity for their music to be heard. So this is something that has never happened before...where by the first of November, we have 63 songs that are released and are actually rotating on various radio stations. And we are encouraging our media partners and our radio stations and thanking them for continuing to support National Carnival and support our artists, our Road March contenders to ensure that their music continues to be pushed on radio.

Historic Milestone in Healthcare as Federation’s First Corneal Transplant Performed at Nevis’ Alexandra Hospital

International and locally-based ophthalmologists with the patient following the first corneal transplant in the Federation performed at Nevis’ Alexandra Hospital on November 06, 2024

NIA CHARLESTOWN NEVIS (November 07, 2024)- In a groundbreaking achievement for the healthcare system of Nevis, the island successfully conducted its first corneal transplant at the Alexandra Hospital on November 06.

This historic procedure was performed by distinguished ophthalmologist Dr. Roberto Pineda II under the “Vision for All” initiative, alongside ophthalmologists Dr. Raymond Hubbe and Dr. Alina Crespo.

The pioneering surgery, undertaken to correct a case of keratoconus- a condition where the cornea thins and bulges into a cone shape, leading to vision impairment and vision loss- marks a significant advancement in eye care in the Federation.

Premier of Nevis the Honourable Mark Brantley (l) with ophthalmologist Dr. Raymond Hubbe (r) at the Alexandra Hospital Eye Clinic

Minister of Health in the Nevis Island Administration the Honourable Jahnel Nisbett

Premier of Nevis the Honourable Mark Brantley celebrated the achievement, stating that the success of this surgery underscores Nevis’ commitment to expanding access to advanced healthcare services.

“ H u g e congratulations to all those involved in creating history at Alexandra Hospital in Nevis. We continue to make strides in providing the best care to all our people, both Nevis and St. Kitts. We have an excellent team and health care in Nevis has made incredible strides. Huge thanks to Dr. Hubbe who has served Nevis with passion and exceptional dedication. The dedication of our healthcare team and international partners is truly inspiring.”

He wished the patient, a local woman, a speedy and successful recovery.

The surgery is part of the “Vision for All” project, a U.S.-based nonprofit organization dedicated to providing critical eye care to underserved communities. Through its long-standing partnership with the Nevis Island Administration (NIA) Ministry of Health and the Nevis Eye Care Programme, the organization facilitates biannual visits of international eye care professionals to Nevis. These visits involve screenings for conditions like glaucoma, diabetic retinopathy, cataracts, and pterygium, followed by treatments and surgeries at the Alexandra Hospital’s Eye Clinic.

Minister of Health the Honourable Jahnel Nisbett expressed her pride in the achievement.

“I am extremely pleased that the NIA’s commitment to providing the best access to critical health care services is continuing to yield groundbreaking results. Not only have we invested in equipment, we have invested in nurturing our international partnerships that grant our people access to world-class healthcare professionals. In this instance through our long-standing partnership with Vision for All led by Dr. Hubbe, the first corneal transplant in the Federation was able to take place at the Alexandra Hospital.

“So we are happy that our people continue to benefit from these types of specialized services through our partnerships with NIA and our international partners.”

In addition to the recent transplant, the partnership between Nevis Island Administration and Vision for All has enabled hundreds of eye surgeries over the years, including 59 cataract surgeries in the past year alone. The program continues to offer subsidized services, ensuring that life-changing eye care is accessible and affordable for all residents.

Guest Speaker Peter Jenkins Advocates Strategies for Union's Success at Annual Workers' Conference

By: Spokesman Newsroom

BASSETERRE, St.Kitts (Wednesday 6th November 2024) - Guest speaker at the recent 85th annual workers' conference of the St. Kitts-Nevis Trades and Labour Union (SKNT&LU), well-known business and academic professional Mr. R.A Peter Jenkins issued a call to action encouraging the union to explore initiatives for securing its future and strengthening its role in society.

With a theme of 'Empowering Workers: Strategies for Success in 2025 and Beyond', the conference-held on Sunday 27th October 2024 at the SWMC Conference Room- provided a platform for Mr. Jenkins to suggest approaches aimed at fostering the union's growth and ensuring its independence.

Notably, in 2011 Mr. Jenkins became the main lecturer of the CFBC [Clarence Fitzroy Bryant College] Jenkins Ltd, Jenkins Real Estate Leadership Program which is now in its 11th cohort.

Reflecting on union activity worldwide, Mr. Jenkins cited various examples to emphasize the power and impact of unionized labour.

"In the United States, the strike of unionized dock workers this month lasted no more than two days -that's significant," he remarked. Turning his attention closer to home, he observed that in Guyana, the teachers' union has been "on the picket line for months," underscoring the resilience of union members in pursuing their rights.

He also pointed to the United Kingdom as an example of unions' reach into the professional workforce, where "22% of all workers are unionized, with the highest number being professionals - approximately 42%."

He noted that doctors and nurses have made "significant gains as a result of being unionized."

Additionally, he highlighted union-led initiatives like Milwaukee's trades and skills institute and the strength of civil service unions in Jamaica, Trinidad and Tobago, and Barbados.

Mr. Jenkins emphasized the need for SKNT&LU to focus on self-sufficiency.

"The executive and members of the union must appreciate that it has to stand on its own two feet. If help comes, that's a bonus, but do not assume it will. The mindset must be one of survival..., "he urged.

Guest speaker at the recent 85th annual workers' conference of the St. Kitts-Nevis Trades and Labour Union (SKNT&LU), well-known business and academic professional Mr. R.A Peter Jenkins seen while delivering his presentation on Sunday 27th October 2024

He pointed to the need for a financial institution that can provide ongoing support for union members, asking, "Is the time right for a credit union? What [about] a cooperative to deal with food security?"

One of Mr. Jenkins' suggestions was the idea of a published history of the union to generate revenue.

"I am confident if a book is published, some revenue would be received if it is properly marketed, perhaps even on platforms like Amazon," he stated. He proposed that sales of such a book could help "keep the union going," providing a source of consistent income.

Another recommendation was the establishment of educational institutions affiliated with the union.

According to Mr. Jenkins: "The union should investigate the establishment of a preschool and a primary school." He emphasized that such institutions could "begin to expose children to the principles of what it is to work together as cooperatives." He added, "The churches do it. You can too."

Mr. Jenkins also encouraged greater union collaboration with international organizations. He suggested that the regional body for trade unions could be enlisted to sponsor a field officer for a year in St. Kitts and Nevis.

"Get them to sponsor one field officer. You will be surprised to see, based on our culture, what impact that will have," he said, noting the potential for positive change with strategic support from other union bodies.

On the topic of partnerships, Mr. Jenkins encouraged the SKNT&LU to engage with allied organizations. He called for a unified approach, proposing, "Using diplomacy, agitate to have similar organizations meet and discuss common issues." Citing groups such as the Teachers Union, Nurses Association, and Police Welfare Association, he highlighted how collaboration could bolster collective strength.

He further suggested revitalizing SKNT&LU's communications efforts, particularly the union's newspaper- The Labour Spokesman

Newspaper

Addressing the needs of union members, Mr. Jenkins proposed that the union develop its land in St. Peter's for housing.

"There is a shortage of housing. You can create housing solutions for only union members," he proposed, envisioning this initiative as a "lasting legacy" and a means to attract new members.

Mr. Jenkins expressed confidence in the union's potential to grow and thrive through proactive strategies and innovative ideas.

"There are many opportunities and strategies available to the union," he concluded, voicing his gratitude to SKNT&LU for the opportunity to contribute to the union's vision for a sustainable and empowered future," he encouraged.

Uproar in Ghana after president unveils his own statue

Ghana's outgoing President Nana Akufo-Addo is facing a backlash on social media after he unveiled a statue of himself during a tour of the country's Western Region.

The monument is intended to honour the development initiatives the president has overseen whilst in office, the region's minister Kwabena Okyere Darko-Mensah says.

But many Ghanaians have been mocking its installation - outside a hospital in the city of Sekondi - seeing it as "self glorification".

"The people of the Western Region deserve better than these self-serving displays," opposition MP Emmanuel Armah Kofi-Buah posted on X.

Akufo-Addo, who will be standing down in January after two terms in power, has boasted that he has fulfilled 80% of his promises to Ghanaians.

He unveiled the monument, prominently placed in front of Sekondi's Effia-Nkwanta Regional Hospital, on Wednesday during his visit that has been dubbed a "thank-you tour".

At the ceremony, Darko-Mensah, who oversees the Western Region, highlighted several key projects initiated under the president.

But the statue has sparked a wave of criticism, with some Ghanaians questioning its importance when several key projects remain incomplete.

"It would be admirable if the president had allowed posterity to recognise and appreciate his work," an X user posted.

A section of the public is calling for the statue - photos of which have gone viral - to be pulled down after the president leaves office.

Some have called for the statue to be pulled down, others say Nana Akufo-Addo deserves to be honoured

But not everyone is critical, with some seeing it as an acknowledgement of Akufo-Addo's contributions to the development of the country.

"He is very deserving of this exquisite monument. The greatest president I've ever had. You will be missed by Ghanaians," one person posted, adding that Akufo-Addo was the "founder of Ghana's free education system".

During his tour, the 80-year-old president has singled out his policy to scrap fees for secondary schools as his "most significant legacy".

His visit has also fed into campaigning nationwide by the ruling New Patriotic Party (NPP). Western Region, in the south-west, is one of 16 regions in the country.

The president urged people there to vote for his deputy, Vice-President Mahamudu Bawumia, in next month's general election.

He will be the NPP's candidate and Akufo-Addo said a vote for him would see the continuation of the party's policies and projects.

Bawumia's main challenger will be former President John Dramani Mahama, who is seeking a comeback under the opposition National Democratic Congress (NDC).

The high cost of living is a key campaign issue in Ghana, Africa's leading producer of gold.

Miss Rwanda given suspended sentence for drink-driving

Miss Rwanda 2022 wearing a silver crown

Divine Muheto didn't appear in court for the sentencing

A court in Rwanda has slapped a beauty queen with a three-month suspended sentence for drink-driving and driving without a licence.

Divine Muheto, who won the most recent Miss Rwanda pageant, was also fined 190,000 Rwandan francs ($140; £109).

Ms Muheto last month crashed her car into an electricity pylon and a palm tree while driving home from a bar in the capital Kigali, according to local site the New Times.

At the time, a statement said she had fled the scene, but the court acquitted her of this charge.

She wasn't present at the court hearing, and neither was the prosecution that had sought two years in prison for her.

After 18 days in police custody, the judge ordered her immediate release.

It is not clear if the prosecution will appeal against the judgment.

Ms Muheto, the daughter of Assistant Commissioner of Police Francis Muheto, hasn't publicly reacted to the incident. But her lawyers say she has expressed remorse and asked forgiveness.

This is not the first time the 21-year-old has driven under the influence of alcohol, according to police in the East African country.

She rose to fame in Rwanda after she won the national beauty contest in 2022.

The competition has not been held since - it was suspended by the government after sexual misconduct allegations were made against the organisers.

Drink-driving carries a fine of 150,000 Rwandan francs ($110; £85) and five days in police custody.

Thousands of people have been arrested for this crime in recent years as police have begun to enforce the law.

The Village at Brotherson Estate: Finding a new path for economic development, says Dr Douglas BASSETTERRE, ST. KITTS, November 5, 2024 (MMS-SKN) — Newton Ground on St. Kitts was a hive of activity on the weekend when the Whitegate Development Corporation held open days on Saturday and Sunday November 2-3, to market The Village at Brotherson Estate to Kittitians and Nevisians and its Diaspora.

Present on both days was Area Parliamentary Representative (St. Christopher Six), Senior Minister and Minister of Foreign Affairs; International Trade, Industry, Commerce and Consumer Affairs; Economic Development and Investment, The Right Hon Dr Denzil Douglas, who was the Prime Minister when the Whitegate Development Corporation was established following closure of the sugar industry.

“The history of the sugar industry is embodied here,” observed Dr Douglas. “My own little village of St. Paul’s, in the heart of Capisterre, was surrounded by no less than about or six sugarcane plantations, which therefore to a large extent demonstrated the role that this part of the country played in the overall economic development of the past, and therefore had to play a future role in its renewal - rebirth - and basically finding a new path for economic development.”

According to Dr Douglas, the idea of holding the two Open Days was to market the development at The Brotherson Estate because at the closure of the sugar industry, the project was started and designs and buildings started before the Labour Government that he led left Government in 2015.

The Village at Brotherson Estate, which is for middle income residential development and other commercial development, has 66 residential lots ranging in size between 6,000 square feet and 9,863 square feet, and three commercial lots ranging in size between 25,562 square feet and 31,787 square feet. Two of the commercial lots are reserved.

“We have decided this important piece of real estate must not be just simply sitting idle,” said Dr Douglas. “The time has come for us to be aggressive in our marketing of what we have, just like the Ramada Hotel, and just below on the sea-side of Kittitian Hill. So we are saying we now put into the market this significant piece of real estate, which is mainly for residential development, the others being commercial.”

Former Permanent Secretary Ms Sharon Rattan, who was one of the visitors for Open Day on Sunday, is seen signing the special visitors' book. Assisting her by holding the unique visitors' book is Whitegate's Board Member and Director of Marketing, Ms Kavita Francis.

The Village at Brotherson Estate has “One of the most pristine beautiful sites of our country,” said the Rt. Hon Dr Denzil Douglas. Stunning views: Top picture shows Mount Liamuiga, and bottom picture shows the island of Sint Eustatius better known as Statia.

The area which he said is one of the most pristine beautiful sites of the country has stunning views where if one were to look across the ocean they would see the neighbouring Dutch island of Sint Eustatius, which is better known as Statia, and St. Maarten. And if one were to make one hundred and eighty degrees turn, what they would see is the mountain range of Mount Liamuiga and he noted that they would again see the distinct beauty of the area and of its landscape.

“This is why the area was chosen to be the site where people of middle income level, and people who had successfully done well from this area would have an alternative to the low income homes that dot the area,” said the Area Parliamentary Representative.

The Rt. Hon Dr Denzil Douglas, who was accompanied by Director of the St. Kitts Investment Promotion Agency (SKIPA), Mr Stanley Jacobs, however emphasised that the development was not just for people of that area, but for the people of St. Kitts and Nevis as well as to the Diaspora of St. Kitts and Nevis.

According to the Chairman of the Whitegate Development Corporation, Senior Minister the Rt. Hon Dr Denzil Douglas, and Chair of Whitegate Board Mr Lincoln Maynard, are seen briefing visitors during the second Open Day on Sunday. Among them is businessman Mr Scott Caines and former Permanent Secretary Ms Sharon Rattan.

Mr Lincoln Maynard, marketing of the development at The Village Brotherson Estate to Kittitians and Nevisians in the Diaspora will be done in collaboration with the St. Kitts Investment Promotion Agency (SKIPA).

Also attending the Open Day on Saturday November 2, was Minister of Tourism; Civil Aviation. International Transport; Employment and Labour; and Urban Development, the Hon Marsha Henderson, while Cabinet Secretary Dr Marcus Natta was among the many persons who attended the Open Day on Sunday November 3.

Nevis Named 6th Best Island in the Caribbean by Conde Nast Traveler

NIA CHARLESTOWN, NEVIS (November 06, 2024) - Nevis has once again solidified its status as a premier travel destination, with Conde Nast Traveler ranking the island as the 6th best in the Caribbean in its prestigious Readers Choice Awards 2024.

The Honourable Premier Mark Brantley, Minister of Tourism in the Nevis Island Administration (NIA), commented on this achievement, noting that three of the island's hotels- Paradise Beach Villas, Four Seasons Resort Nevis, and Montpelier Plantation and Beach- were also honoured among the top resorts globally and in the Caribbean.

"The ongoing recognition of our island and its hospitality offerings is invaluable," Premier Brantley said. "We all know that Nevis' focus has not traditionally been the cruise sector, but what we call 'heads in beds'. We have taken a different slightly nuanced approach [to our tourism model]. We have always focused on seeing how we can attract visitors and stay over visitors."

Tourism on the island has seen robust growth in 2024, as evidenced by an increase in revenue from the Tourism Development Levy, a 2 percent tax applied to hotel stays and certain dining establishments.

"I'm pleased to announce that revenue from the Levy is currently 73.21 percent higher than in 2019, the last full year before the COVID-19 pandemic, and 8.17 percent higher than in 2023," Premier Brantley reported.

This year, Nevis has already generated around $3.1 million from the levy as at October, compared to the $3.2 million total collected in 2023.

"We are on track to surpass last year's total, and we aim to reach a record $4 million in revenue by the end of the year," the Honourable Brantley added.

The Nevis Island Administration has made significant investments in enhancing tourism and heritage sites to improve visitors' and residents' experiences. Recent projects include the renovation and official reopening of the Bath Hot Springs site and upgrades to the popular Pinney's Beach Strip.

With Nevis gaining recognition from one of the world's leading luxury travel publications and its tourism sector showing impressive growth, the island is poised for continued success in the industry. This upward trajectory underscores Nevis' position as a must-visit Caribbean destination for travelers seeking a refined, immersive, and memorable experience.

U.S. Embassy Bridgetown Launches Program to Allow Eligible Visa Applicants to Reschedule to an Earlier Date

U.S. Embassy Bridgetown launched a program to offer visitor visa (B1/B2) applicants the opportunity to move their appointments to an earlier date for no additional fee. Applicants who are eligible and selected will receive an email notification with instructions on how to reschedule to an earlier appointment date. Legitimate offers to reschedule to an earlier appointment will come directly from the online appointment website via donotreply@usvisa-info.com.

If offered the opportunity to reschedule to an earlier appointment date and the appointment system does not show availability, we encourage applicants to periodically check back as appointments specifically for those selected will be continuously added throughout the year. This service covers citizens of Anguilla, Antigua and Barbuda, Barbados, British Virgin Islands, Dominica, Guadeloupe, Grenada, Martinique, Monserrate, St. Barthelemy, St. Lucia, St. Kitts and Nevis, French St. Martin, and Saint Vincent and the Grenadines. This program, and the efforts of the consular section in Barbados, who have been adjudicating visas in record numbers, will assist more citizens of our consular district to travel to the United States in the coming months.

In fiscal year 2023, the U.S. Embassy in Bridgetown adjudicated over 57,000 visas, the highest number ever. That represents a 40% increase over our 10-year average and an increase of 60% over 2022.

JOHN'S, Antigua - Cricket West Indies (CWI) is delighted to announce the finalization of a new six-year media rights agreement with ESPN Caribbean, ensuring exclusive broadcast and digital coverage of all West Indies Men's and Women's home international matches as well as the Men's and Women's regional tournament, the CG United Super50 Cup. On the agreement, CWI Acting Chief Executive Officer and Chief Operating Officer, Lynford Inverary said:

This new six-year agreement with ESPN Caribbean marks the largest media rights deal CWI has ever secured in the Caribbean. It not only reflects the growing commercial value of West Indies cricket but also ensures that fans across the region will continue to enjoy comprehensive coverage of our international series and CG United Super50 Cups. ESPN is a longstanding partner, and this new deal will help CWI meet its long-term financial goals, while expanding the visibility and engagement of West Indies cricket within the region.

Scott McGlone, Sr. Director Programming and Acquisitions, ESPN expressed his excitement: - We are thrilled to continue our strong relationship with CWI with this groundbreaking new deal. ESPN seeks to serve local sports fans anytime, anywhere.

What better way to accomplish this goal than a long-term partnership with CWI, that represents such a rich sporting history both locally and internationally

Under the new agreement, CWI has retained the right to license post-match highlights on free-to-air and digital platforms throughout the region, ensuring fans will have access to additional content throughout each series and tournament. Village Superstars Win Trilogy of SKNFA Youth League Titles

Rams Village Superstars completed their trilogy of SKNFA Youth League titles after winning the 2024 Rams Premier Youth Cup U13 title and the Keith Gumbs U17 League in October. Village's U13 Team defeated Conaree Fireball International on penalty shootout, after taking a 3-1 lead in the first half. But Conaree Fireball, for the third consecutive time, came back from three goals down to tie the score and force the match into penalties. In the end, Village was able to close out the match from the penalty spot. After the match, President of the SKNFA Atiba Harris and Shaun Weston, General Manager of Rams Trading, the title sponsor of the tournament, presented trophies and medals to the runners up and champions.

Village's Captain Kazai Rawlins was the MVP of the tournament. He spoke about how hard they worked in training to now finally reap the fruits of their labour. "We worked hard to come this far," Rawlins said. His teammate Darius Rey also chimed in: "We worked very hard; we did good. We had some ups and downs but we still came back and we still came in first," he said.

Both players were asked about how they felt when Conaree fought their way back into the match. "They had us good but we just had a little talk and we got back in the game and got the win," Rey said.

Meanwhile, Conaree's Coach Harrold Wharton said his players were heartbroken at the loss, but he accepted some of the blame for the result. "We fell short which is so disappointing. After we went down to the second goal, I took blame for our play. I took too long to adjust because after we adjusted, they didn't get any attempt on goal as I could remember. So they were very determined to pull it back," he said. "We went to penalties. Unfortunately, our top kicker didn't score. So, yeah, we fell short again."

He also spoke to his team's resilience for coming back from behind to force the match into penalties. "They're determined. That's the most I can say. They're very determined. I'm confident next year we are going to be in the finals again."

VILLAGE SUPERSTARS WIN U17 TITLE

Meanwhile, in the finals of the Keith Gumbs U17 League also played in October, Village Superstars dispatched of Dieppe Bay 2-0. Captain of the team and one of the goal scorers Carl Newtown said Dieppe Bay was the better team in the first 15 minutes of the match, but they were able to bounce back. "For the first half, for the first 15 minutes, yeah, they hit us...I would say, after we started to control the game from the back, coming up, even when we felt the pressure, we still played through it," he said. He said winning a treble of youth league titles for the second time, having done so in the 2020 football season, is historic. "No other team has ever done that." These two league titles come after Village Superstars already won the Atiba Harris U15 League a few weeks earlier.

West Indies hammer England in series decider

Third ODI, Barbados

West Indies 267-2 (43 overs): Carty 128* (114), King 102 (117); Overton 1-17

West Indies win by eight wickets; win series 2-1

West Indies claimed a series victory over England after defeating the tourists by eight wickets in the third and final one-day international in Barbados.

Keacy Carty and Brandon King both scored impressive hundreds as West Indies cantered home in pursuit of 264 with seven overs to spare.

Sint Maarten batter Carty blitzed his way to his maiden international ton in 97 balls and stayed unbeaten on 128, while King made his third ODI century in 113 balls.

England's 263-8 had looked reasonably healthy considering they crumbled to 24-4 in 10 overs.

Phil Salt's watchful 74 dug them out of a hole with Sam Curran scoring 40 and Dan Mousley impressing with his maiden ODI half-century.

Jamie Overton added 32 while Jofra Archer remained unbeaten on 38 as England recovered to post a total which had looked challenging until the intervention of King and Carty.

With Jos Buttler returning as captain, England will hope to regroup as they prepare for a five-match T20 series, which begins at the same venue on Saturday.

Salt watched on from the non-striker's end as West Indies ripped through the England top order.

After the tourists were forced on to the back foot early, the opener played an uncharacteristically sedate knock to lend some respect to the England total.

Matthew Forde had found some early movement to dismiss Will Jacks in the third over before Jordan Cox's troubles against the short ball continued as he gloved a 92mph bouncer from Alzarri Joseph to Hope behind the stumps.

Jacob Bethell went for a duck, with captain Liam Livingstone joining him in the dressing room inside the powerplay, leaving England up against it.

They were grateful for the patient display from Salt, who hit just one boundary in his first 52 balls before hoisting Romario Shepherd over mid-wicket for his only six to bring up a precious 50-run partnership with Curran.

It took the opener 79 balls to reach his fifth and slowest ODI half-century before falling to Forde on 74, but only after providing the springboard for England.

Mousley built on that momentum and carved out his maiden half-century in 64 deliveries, accumulating the bulk of those runs on the leg side before falling to Joseph as England stepped on the gas.

Overton's 32 from 21 balls and Archer's 17-ball 38 helped the visitors ransack 100 in the last 10 overs, including 21 off the final over.

Though England ultimately fell well short, Salt's back-to-back fifties will give him confidence heading into the T20 series, where he will retain the gloves despite Buttler's return.

Jamie Overton did cause some early problems with the ball and picked up his maiden ODI wicket

England came into the deciding ODI with their confidence boosted after a thrilling win in the second game in Antigua and they gave themselves a fighting chance at the halfway point after an excellent recovery with the bat.

The 239 runs they added after the top-order collapse was the second most they have scored after the fall of four wickets in ODIs.

However, their bowling attack failed to impress yet again against a West Indies side which had won just one of their six previous matches heading into the series.

King struck sublime back-to-back boundaries in Jofra Archer's opening spell in a quick start for the home side on a wicket that had favoured the chasing team in nine of the previous 11 matches.

Overton dismissed Evin Lewis cheaply for his first ODI wicket, but that was as good as it got for England with the ball.

Livingstone used seven of his nine bowling options to no avail in his bid to rein in Carty and King as the duo built a 209-run partnership, which was only broken in the 41st over by Reece Topley with West Indies just 13 runs away from victory.

England's most experienced fast bowler Archer underwhelmed at the Kensington Oval to finish the series with one wicket from 23 overs, while leg-spinner Adil Rashid ended with figures of 0-51.

Skipper Hope joined Carty to finish the job for the hosts to leave England with plenty to ponder in this format before a three-match ODI series in India in February, which is their final preparation before the Champions Trophy in Pakistan later in the same month.

Dominance pleases Windies skipper - what they said

West Indies captain Shai Hope: "I would have to say the dominance [pleased me most]. We asked for consistency and discipline, and that's exactly what the guys did. The main thing if you want to be an elite team is that you've got to do things consistently.

"It's a big plus for us, the work is really showing. The guys are putting a lot of work in off the field. It's a great confidence booster, especially for the batting unit."

England captain Liam Livingstone: "We battled back really well [with the bat]. The boys in the middle put on a decent partnership and ended really well. Ultimately we didn't get enough runs. Disappointed with the end to the series but there have been a lot of good parts.

"We are missing a lot of players. We have a lot of people to come back into the team. Hopefully the younger boys that haven't played that much international cricket have learned a lot."
